Fall Dress Up Week Displays Delight Crowd

Rose and Gorman Awarded Silver Cup Offered as First Prize in Annual Competition of Kingston Uptown Merchants' Association—All Windows Attract Attention—Display Continues Throughout This Week.

At 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening two taps on the fire alarm system was the signal for the dropping of curtains which during the day had hid from view the windows of merchants in their annual Fall Dress Up Week displays. At the signal curtains were drawn aside and one of the finest displays ever seen in Kingston was revealed to the public. Several of the windows were real masterpieces and the judges found difficulty in selecting the first prize winner from among the several windows which were outstanding.

There was a throng of people on the streets when the curtains were drawn aside and the Fall Dress Up Week, sponsored by the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association, was given a very hearty welcome by the crowds who were on the streets intent on seeing what Kingston merchants had to offer. Dress Up Week, which was ushered in at the window unveiling Thursday evening, will be continued throughout the week.

Auto Show Also Held.

In addition to the display of merchandise in the various stores and shops there was an automobile show on the public streets under the auspices of the Kingston Automotive Dealers' Association. New model cars in bright new paint and new body lines were one of the big attractions of the evening. The cars were shown on North Front and Wall streets from Crown to John streets. Attendants were ready to explain the mechanical features of their cars to the hundreds of people who stopped to examine them.

The dealers who exhibited cars were:

Van Motor Company, Studebaker and Marmon.

Morton Lown, Graham-Paige.

William J. McGrath, Buick.

James Millard & Son Co., Ford.

Stuyvesant Garage, Plymouth and Chrysler.

Sutliff, Inc., Chevrolet.

George J. Schryver Motor Car Company, Willys-Knight and Whippet.

Southard & Beichert, Oldsmobile.

Van Kleeck Motor & Garage, Nash and Durant.

A. & W. Auto Exchange, Hupmobile.

The judges of the various window displays, the Hon. Walter P. Crane, Morris Samter and Louis Brown, passed from shop to shop scoring the various windows and later after a meeting at which the scores were compared the winners of the window dressing contest were announced.

Rose & Gorman Wins Silver Cup

Rose & Gorman, winners of the silver cup last year, again was awarded first prize. The windows of the store were very artistically arranged. In the lower window was a display of baby wear and children's necessities. Another of the big windows was gay with the new fall clothes very cleverly arranged while in the center window at the main entrance was a display of millinery. The two windows next to Fair street were devoted to a display of women's wear.

Second and Third Prizes

To Forsyth & Davis on Main street was awarded the second prize. They showed a very simple but artistically dressed window in which radios of various types were shown.

O. F. Fahrenhorst was awarded third prize. In the window of the former E. S. Craft & Son grocery store now conducted by Mr. Fahrenhorst was a very colorful display of fresh fruits of various kinds while in the other window was a display of canned produce displayed in glass jars. Both windows were very cleverly arranged.

To several merchants were honorable mention. Among them were M. Kaplan, furniture; Burgevin, florist; S. Cohen's Sons, clothing; Wonderly Company, dry-goods; New York Cloak & Suit Company, cloaks and suits, and L. S. Winne, hardware.

Other Outstanding Windows

Another window which attracted a great deal of attention was that of Harry B. Merritt on Washington avenue at Hurley avenue where a general line of groceries was displayed in a most attractive manner.

In the store of S. Cohen's Sons on Wall street was one of the Wilson Bros., "Red Blend" windows. This window while not entered in the local contest is one of 10,000 similar windows put in throughout the country by firms handling Wilson Bros. merchandise. The window displaying Wilson Bros. merchandise is known as the "Red Blend" display and is very cleverly arranged and illuminated at night with red. The predominating color in these windows is red.

Favorable Comment for All

Ideal weather prevailed for the display and many out of town people took advantage of the opportunity to visit the various business places. Very favorable comment was heard on all sides of the interest which all of the merchants had taken in preparing their displays and while opinions differed often as to which window was the best, the general opinion was that the display as a whole was very creditable.

Kingston Police to Hold Annual Ball December 7

Kingston Patrolmen's Association Planning for Big Social Event in State Armory to Raise Funds for Police Pension Fund.

The Kingston Patrolmen's Association will hold its first annual ball at the state armory on the evening of December 7. The ball is to be held to raise funds for the police pension fund of the city.

This is the first ball ever held by the police force of the city, and the affair promises to be one of the outstanding social events of the season. Committees have been appointed to arrange for music, entertainment and decorations.

The entertainment committee is planning to engage well known artists for the entertainment that will precede the dancing. It is said that the entertainment will be equal to any that has appeared in the state armory.

The police pension fund is used for pensions for those officers who have retired by reason of service, age and incapacity.

The committee on music is planning to engage a widely known orchestra to furnish the music for dancing. Every member of the Patrolmen's Association is working hard on the preliminary plans for the ball which is expected to be a success both socially and financially.

Dance Contests at Junior League Ball

Waltz and Charleston Competitions Open for Everyone—Competent Judges Selected—Ticket Sale Unusually Heavy.

Among the exciting features of the Junior League Jazz Ball next Friday night will be the waltz and Charleston competitions for which cups have been donated by two of Kingston's most prominent business men; for the waltz by Senator Arthur H. Wicks and for the Charleston by Charles A. Warren.

The competitions will, of course, be free to all and it is expected that they will bring out many fine dancers. Everett Fowler, Dr. George F. Chandler and David Burgevin have consented to judge the waltz contest and the Charleston contest will be judged by Senaor Arthur H. Wicks, Rodney B. Osterhoudt and Miss Margery Richards, Kingston's most popular and well known teacher of dancing and herself a solo dancer of wide repute.

The waltz contest will take place early in the evening shortly after the concert and entertainment by the orchestra and its soloists. The Charleston competition will take place later in the evening. Prizes will be on display the last part of next week in the windows of the Sporting Goods Store on Fair street.

Miss Jane Hogeboom, chairman of the ticket committee, and Mrs. Charles A. Warren, who is assisting her, report an unusually heavy sale of tickets to date. Boxes for the ball have been reserved by Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Dr. John Hasbrouck, Dr. and Mrs. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fowler, Mrs. A. F. Sheldon, Mrs. John N. Cordts, Arthur G. Carr and others.

Tickets may be obtained from Miss Hogeboom by Phoning 2139 and are also on sale at the Connelly Drug Co., O'Reilly's on Broadway, Valentin Burgevin's, E. Winter's Sons and at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Johnson May Manage Senators

Washington, Oct. 12 (AP)—The way apparently was cleared today for the triumphal return to Washington of Walter Johnson not as a pitcher but as manager of the team for which he toiled for 20 years.

President Clark Griffith, on being informed that the Newark, N. J., club would not place obstacles in the path of the veteran pitcher's promotion, said that if Newark would let him go, Washington would sign him.

Hoover Working Hard This Week

Preparing Two Speeches in Less Time Than He Usually Devotes to Writing One—Complete Itinerary of Boston Trip.

Washington, Oct. 12 (AP)—Herbert Hoover is driving himself harder this week than he has at any time in the campaign. He has been faced with the task of preparing two speeches in even less time than he usually has devoted to the writing of a single one.

These addresses are to be delivered on the next two Mondays and that to be made in the arena at Boston on October 15 had to be in the hands of the printer today to be available to the press by next Sunday.

While the Republican presidential candidate will have four days next week in which to put the finishing touches on the New York address of October 22, he must get the rough draft out of the way before going to Boston, as some of his time next week must be given over to political conferences and direction of the campaign.

If the nominee finds that he will not have time to treat at Boston on the maintenance of a merchant marine after he has expanded his views on the tariff and foreign trade, he probably will touch upon that subject in his New York speech.

Itinerary of Boston Trip.

The itinerary of the Boston trip finally has been completed in detail. It calls for an absence from Washington of slightly less than 36 hours. This is to be accomplished by two hurried overnight trips and by limiting public appearances to a small number of cities.

Going direct from Washington to New Haven, Conn., the Hoover special train will be transferred to another railroad for the run to Springfield, where a brief stop and rear platform appearance will be made. Then the special will proceed east across the greater portion of the state, going to Worcester and then to Newtonville, where the party will detrain to visit the suburbs of Boston and drive by motor into the city.

After speaking at the Arena there will be a hurried getaway, the train leaving for Washington at 10 p. m., making the return trip through Providence, Hartford, New Haven and New York. Except for Providence all of these points will be passed late at night and early in the morning, so that there will be no opportunity for the candidate to make platform appearances.

Three Talks on Trip.

Hoover probably will make three talks on the Boston trip, aside from the prepared address he will deliver in that city. He will speak at Springfield, Worcester and on Boston Common, where we will be welcomed by the mayor.

His plans for the New York trip the week following call for only one talk aside from that to be made at night at Madison Square Garden. This will be at the luncheon to be attended by the state and county chairmen and others who are taking the lead in the work for the Republican ticket in that state.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD HEARINGS ON GAS RATES.

Chairman Prendergast of the public service commission, on Tuesday, October 16, will preside at a hearing in New York city relative to cases concerning the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporatiton. The three cases deal with matters of the corporation's gas schedule, applicable in the city of Kingston and part of the town of Uister, Ulster county; village of Catskill and part of the town of Catskill; the city of Poughkeepsie and suburbs in town of Poughkeepsie and city of Beacon, Dutchess county; the city of Newburgh and suburbs in town of Newburgh, Orange county, proposed as effective August 15, 1928. Suspension order.

CHAMBERLIN LANDS AT LE BOURGET FIELD.

Le Bourget, France, Oct. 12 (AP).—Clarence D. Chamberlin, American transatlantic flier, landed at the Le Bourget flying field shortly before noon today with a few passengers from the steamship Leviathan, aboard which he had made the crossing.

Chamberlin, who is on a trip to inspect various European aviation stations, took off from Cherbourg Roads in an Amphibian plane shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. He planned to go on to Berlin by way of Cologne later in the day.

VIRGIL SAMPSON GIVEN A SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Virgil Sampson, a negro, pleaded guilty this morning in police court to stealing a ten dollar bill from the cash register in the place of Jack Clare on Chambers street on Thursday, and was sentenced to twenty days in jail. Serving of the sentence was suspended pending good behavior. The money was recovered.

Search for Tug.

The Pas, Man., Oct. 12 (AP).—Unreported since it left Fort Nelson for Fort Churchill, Sunday, the government steel tug George W. Yates with 33 men aboard, was the object of a search by air over the bleak northern waters today.

Reception for Legion Drum Corps Monday

Local Legionnaires Will Be Feature Of Big Parade When They Return From San Antonio, Texas, Next Monday Night—Everyone Invited To Join.

Fraternal and other organizations are preparing a reception to be given American Legion Drum Corps Monday night when the boys arrive home from San Antonio, Texas, that will surpass any like event previously put on in Kingston.

Prominent Kingstonians are heartily in favor of the plans now going through for the reception, for they feel that all recognition possible should be given the men who are working in a splendid manner to make this city stand out nationally.

Excelsior Hose Band and members of the firemen's organization themselves, followed closely by the Junior Order of American Mechanics and the musical organization of the fraternity, were the first to express a desire to participate in the welcoming of the Legionnaires. Since their action, many other organizations have applied for a place in the big parade to be staged. Not alone will everybody who applies be considered, but a cordial invitation has been extended by Percy S. Jones to all Kingstonians and residents of the vicinity to join in the welcome. Undoubtedly there will be many decorated automobiles in the line of march.

Of course the mayor and city officials will occupy a prominent place in the event. Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey will ride in the official car, an Oldsmobile, furnished by Southard & Belchert, agents. The board of aldermen, headed by Alderman-at-large C. Ray Everett will parade. A police escort and members of the paid fire department will take part in the affair.

The Legionnaires will arrive in Kingston on the 5:20 p. m. Rhinebeck ferry. Their baggage will be carried in a truck kindly furnished by Sutliff, Inc., so that the men may be free to accept the great welcome. Excelsior Hose and the Mechanics' Band will play a tune of glad tidings as the gaily attired Legion men march off the ferry. A gigantic parade will then march through the city, with William R. Kraft as grand marshal.

A special reception will be given the drum corps at the Memorial Building on West O'Reilly street when the parade is over. Every member of Kingston Post is requested to turn out for the occasion.

Slight Fire at Rose's Grocery

Fire in Meat Department of A. D. Rose's Store Thursday Evening Kept Firemen Busy—Business Not Interrupted.

Shortly after 6 o'clock fire broke out in a small addition to the A. D. Rose grocery store at 75 Franklin street, causing an alarm to be turned in from Box 75 to which the fire department responded. The meat department is located in a one-story addition attached to the main building, which is a frame structure, three stories in height.

The fire burned its way to the roof of the meat department, but the actual damage by fire was not heavy. The most damage to the building was that caused by smoke.

The Rose grocery store occupies the first floor of the three story building, while the two upper floors are used as a living apartment. Nelson J. Ward resides on the second floor and A. J. Berinato and Walter Stewart on the third floor.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Due to its prompt discovery and the quick response of the fire department the damage by fire was not heavy.

As the fire was confined to the office, none of the goods in the store were damaged by smoke or water, so business went on as usual in the Rose store today.

One Man Hurt In Auto Crash

Henry Zohbel in City Hospital as Result of Crash on Saugerties Road When His Car Blew Shoe and Collided With Another Car.

Dr. Harold Clarke, food inspector of the board of health, was driving toward Saugerties this morning in his Chrysler sedan and when near the Stoddard place he saw a Chevrolet sedan approaching. The sedan had passed around a truck and as it approached the Clarke car it suddenly blew a shoe, causing the Chevrolet car to crash into the car of Dr. Clarke. Both cars were badly damaged and Henry Zohbel of Woodhaven, who was riding in the Chevrolet car, was cut three times in the head.

The Chevrolet car was being driven by William Albert of the Flatbush road, who escaped unhurt. Dr. Clarke bound up the injured man's head and Dr. C. B. Van Gaasbeek was called and removed the injured man to the City of Kingston Hospital where he will remain for a few days.

Dr. Clarke reported the accident to the sheriff's office.

Wintry Storm Moves Eastward

Balmy Indian Summer Succeeded by Freezing Temperatures and Snow in Middle West—Apple Crops Damaged.

Denver, Oct. 12 (AP)—A wintry storm which swept into the Rocky Mountain region from Canadian prairies moved eastward today, bringing promise of lower temperatures and rain or snow throughout the Missouri valley, where balmy Indian summer weather with an occasional hot summer day has prevailed for weeks.

Snow, which fell in nearly every western state and which reached a depth of three inches in places yesterday, had turned to rain as the storm swept down across the high plains of western Kansas and Nebraska last night. A six-week drought, which had affected growth of winter wheat on the Kansas plateaus, was broken by the rain. Freezing temperatures with snow was in prospect today.

The snow and cold first hit Montana Wednesday, and spread out fanshape throughout the Rocky Mountain region. The mercury dropped to 28 degrees at Helena yesterday and snow fell all day at Great Falls, near the Canadian border. Snow was general in Wyoming and the higher Colorado Rockies.

A mercury drop was recorded in the populated sections of Colorado, and rain which fell in Denver and other towns last night was expected to turn to snow today and spread into northern New Mexico.

Eight inches of snow fell in Logan, Utah, and wire communication was impaired. Apple orchards in the state, where the harvest had begun, were damaged, but the moisture was beneficial to the beet crop.

Nearly four inches of snow fell in Truckie, Cal., and snow was reported at Reno, Nev., and Pocatello, Idaho.

Heavy rain storms visited the southwest with a drop in temperature.

More than three inches of rain fell at Bisbee, Ariz., while at Prescott, the longest drought on record since 1865, was broken by a heavy rain. Water holes in the mountains filled up and cattlemen today made plans to return cattle to the ranges.

The storm spread into Mexico and halted wire communication on the west coast below Nogales, Sonora. New Mexico likewise felt the rain storms and descending temperatures.

Oddly enough, the Pacific northwest missed the brunt of the cold weather, though conditions there were unsettled.

The disturbance was expected to continue over the week end.

ESCAPED CONVICT IS FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—John Hennessy, alias Harold Hennesy, pal of Edward Ryan, escaped convict, who was captured Monday in the Bronx after a gun battle with police, was found dead near Bronx Park this morning, three bullet wounds in the back of his head.

Police, who identified him from fingerprints taken from the body, believe he was killed in an automobile and his body taken to the spot where it was found. They were not ready to say whether it was an act of reprisal by Ryan's friends for probable treachery.

Ryan, who escaped from Sing Sing prison with James Mannery last July, was captured by police who trailed a red haired woman to a rendezvous with the convict at Washington bridge. The woman later was arrested and is held as a material witness. They did not disclose who tipped them off to the meeting of Ryan and the woman.

SENATOR CURTIS NOT TO SPEAK IN ALBANY.

Chicago, Oct. 12 (AP).—A proposed appearance of Senator Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, in Albany, N. Y., the home town of Governor Smith, was vetoed today by the Republican candidate.

"I never have campaigned in the home city of an opponent," he declared, "and I am not going to start now. I don't play the game that way."

A Curtis noon meeting in Albany in about ten days had been tentatively arranged by the Eastern Speakers' Bureau of the Republican National Committee.

GENOA CELEBRATES BIRTH OF COLUMBUS

Genoa, Italy, Oct. 12 (AP).—This city celebrated today the anniversary of the discovery of America by its native son, Christopher Columbus, a solemn Te Deum was celebrated this morning and Archbishop Minoretti laid wreaths at the house and at the monument of Columbus. All public buildings and many private dwellings were decorated with Italian and American flags, tonight the public squares will be illuminated for open air concerts.

NEGRO WOMEN WANTED IN EAST KINGSTON

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Eleanor Golden of 69 Chambers street and Mrs. Laurena Holland, of 17 West Strand, both negresses, were placed under arrest by Officer Boss on warrants issued in East Kingston charging them with fraud. Later they were turned over to Constable Edward Pierce.

Zeppelin Proceeds In Direction Of Bermuda

Commander Eckener Heads South of the Azores, Planning to Reach United States by Way of Bermuda—Passes Over Madeira—News of Dr. Eckener's Decision to Avoid Headwinds Received by the Zeppelin Works.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Oct. 12 (AP)—Advised after passing Madeira earlier en route to the Azores that the headwinds were a challenge to his commander, decided to change his course and head for the Island of Madeira off the northwest African coast and thence to fly for the United States by way of Bermuda.

News of Dr. Eckener's decision was received by the Zeppelin works at noon today.

It was believed by early this afternoon the dirigible would be sufficiently south to profit by the eastern winds and that she would be able to communicate with ships on the South American route. The Zeppelin company's radio station was out of communication with the dirigible this afternoon.

Passes Over Madeira.

Berlin, Oct. 12 (AP)—A wireless message from the Graf Zeppelin picked up by the St. Michael radio station in the Azores stated that the airship had passed over Madeira at 8:30 a. m., eastern standard time, and was proceeding in the direction of Bermuda.

Funchal, Island of Madeira, Oct. 12 (AP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin passed over Funchal at a great height at 12:30 p. m. local time or 8:30 a. m. eastern standard time.

Passengers Air Sick.

London, Oct. 12 (AP).—A Reuter's dispatch from Ponta Delgada in the Azores stated that the Graf Zeppelin passed over the Island of Madeira about 8:20 a. m., eastern standard time.

The airship was expected to pass the Azores late today. The passengers aboard the huge air liner were reported to be exceedingly air sick.

Passes Over Steamship.

Steamship Euclid (West of Mederia) Oct. 12 (AP).—(By wireless to The Associated Press)—The Graf Zeppelin passed over this steamship at 3:20 p. m. (10:30 a. m. eastern standard time) in latitude 32.38 north and longitude 17.30 west.

She was steering west-northwest and making good speed as she went by. Weather fine. Wind light from the west-southwest. Visibility good.

The above dispatch from the Euclid placed the Graf Zeppelin about 60 miles west of the Island of Madeira and apparently bearing a little north of a course which would carry her directly towards Bermuda.

Slow Progress Bucking Headwinds.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Oct. 12 (AP).—In view of slow progress made by the airship Graf Zeppelin in bucking headwinds on its flight along the Spanish coast to Gibraltar, experts today estimated that the dirigible would require 100 hours for her trip to Lakehurst, N. J.

This would mean that the ship would reach her American port at 6 a. m. Monday, eastern standard time.

Fought Head Winds Along Spain.

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—The huge dirigible Graf Zeppelin was over the Atlantic today, well on her way to the United States after having fought headwinds which delayed her passage along the Mediterranean coast of Spain.

Turning her blunt silver nose to the southwest after passing Gibraltar at 5 a. m. Greenwich time (midnight eastern standard time) the dirigible apparently headed for the Madeira Islands with a water jump of some 3,700 miles ahead of her before the American coast was reached.

Two hours after the airship passed Gibraltar the Captain of the British Tanker Gymeric, who was then about 50 miles out in the Atlantic off the coast of Spanish Morocco, sighted the airship well to the south. Five minutes later the S. S. Vitrillo reported her. Graf Zeppelin was going in a westerly direction, which would take her over the Madeira Islands.

Favorable weather lay ahead of the dirigible with a light wind from the north.

Expectations at the ship's destination, the Hotel Stores airport station at Lakehurst, N. J., are that she will reach Sunday p. m.

Four years ago today another airship, the U. S. Los Angeles, left Friedrichshafen, Germany, and was off the southeast coast of Nova Scotia at midnight on October 14, 1924, but as a more southerly route was mapped out for the Graf Zeppelin it was thought that her first sight of land might be either the Massachusetts Island of Nantucket or Martha's

Mellon Makes Appeal for Hoover

Only Issue in Presidential Campaign Is Whether Republican or Democratic Leadership Is Best Qualified to Administer Government, He Says.

Washington, Oct. 12 (AP). In the opinion of Secretary Mellon, the Presidential campaign offers the voter a single issue—whether Republican or Democratic leadership is the better qualified to administer the government of the United States during the next four years.

Making by radio last night the second political speech of his career, the treasury head reviewed what he looked upon as the accomplishments of the Harding-Coolidge administrations, and declared they constituted a complete fulfillment of the Republican promise that the government should be conducted "economically and in accord with sound business principles."

Nearly eight years of close association with Herbert Hoover had convinced him, Mr. Mellon said, that the Republican nominee "will give the nation a sound and successful administration of the government and that he is supremely well qualified to deal with those great economic problems that influence so directly and to such a very large extent the prosperity of the country and the comfort, welfare and happiness of the people."

Hoover, he said, is "in the fortunate position" of being able to tell the voters not only what he will do "but what he and the administration of which he has been an important part have already done." Offering "unparalleled record of constructive achievement" on that record, the secretary added, Hoover and the Republican party asked for continued confidence and support.

That the administration has made good its promises was best attested, Mr. Mellon said, "by the fact that today the finances both of the government and of the country are in a sound condition."

Gov. Smith in Tennessee Today

Greeted With Enthusiasm by People of Virginias and North Carolina As He Travels Through Normally Democratic Strongholds.

Governor Smith's Train, Enroute to Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 12 (AP).—Cheered by the enthusiasm of thousands of Virginians and North Carolinians, who greeted him with noisy demonstrations as his train cut through those normally Democratic strongholds yesterday and last night, Governor Smith came into the border state of Tennessee today for another round of receptions and flying rear-platform campaigning.

Before heading for Louisville, Ky., where tomorrow night he will deliver the first formal address of his second campaign tour, the Democratic presidential nominee faced a big reception in Chatanooga before noon and another late today in Nashville. Between these two cities, the governor's special train was routed into northern Alabama for a brief stop or two.

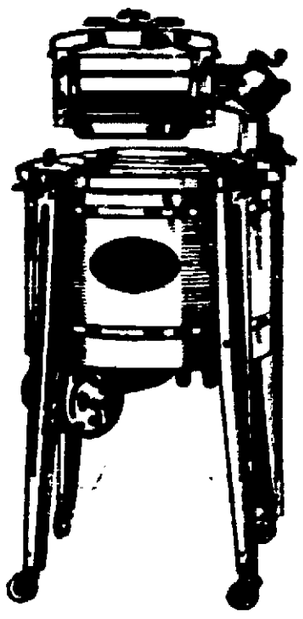

Most of the Raleigh speech was a repetition of his impromptu Richmond talk, made inside the Old Dominion capitol building. But the crowd that jammed into the auditorium on the governor's heels after being informed at the last minute that the New Yorker was to be officially welcomed to North Carolina, was receptive from the moment Josephus Daniels introduced Governor Smith and Mrs. Smith until the nominee had concluded his brief address.

Once out of Raleigh, another series of stops was made for rear platform appearances. These bore heavily into the time the nominee wishes to devote to the preparation of his Louisville address. He would not disclose the topic of that speech, but in concluding his Raleigh remarks he requested his listeners to get busy on the radio Saturday night for he would talk "on a very interesting subject."

Prince May Have Died of Liquor

New York, Oct. 11 (AP).—The death of Alexander V. Turin, described as a prince of the former Republic of Georgia, was under investigation by city medical authorities today on the possibility that it might have been caused by drinking poison liquor.

Turin died in the apartment of Mrs. Sparsia Rodzoff, with whom he had luncheon. She told police he had a cocktail and several glasses of whiskey.

The death since Saturday of 25 persons from wood alcohol poisoning caused Dr. Charles Norris, city medical examiner, to order the body taken to the morgue for an autopsy.

Mrs. Rodzoff, who said she was a Bulgarian translator, told police she met Prince Alexander at the Hotel Plaza a few days ago through mutual friends. Yesterday he called to see her and they had luncheon together at a restaurant in Fifty-third street, where he had several drinks. After luncheon they returned to her apartment on Riverside Drive and had hardly sat down when he complained of feeling ill and fell to the floor. Terrified, she called police. He was dead before medical attention could be given.

Prince Alexander, who told Mrs. Rodzoff his title dated back 700 years, had made his home in this country for several years. His family is said to have owned large oil lands in Russia before the revolution. The Soviet confiscated these.

He married Miss Ann Hearons, a pianist of Bolivar, N. Y., here in 1926. He was a frequent guest at the Plaza, it was said there, and appeared to be a man of considerable wealth.

Police and federal authorities continued their investigation into the source of the poison liquor making several additional raids on alleged speakeasies.

Worms Pay Her Way

MISS MILDRED CLIFF

Reno, Nev., Oct. 12 (AP).—Sixty dozen long, fat angleworms took 11-year-old Mildred Cliff to the Nevada Junior Farm Bureau camp.

Here's how:

Mildred belongs to the Clover Leaf 4-H Club of Washoe valley. All the other boys and girls decided to attend the camp, but Mildred lacked the three dollars necessary for expenses. Of course, she could have sold eggs, run errands, weeded gardens and performed other chores, but she didn't.

On contract she dug and delivered 720 angleworms at five cents a dozen to her ranch neighbor, Miss Katherine Lewers, art teacher at the University of Nevada. Miss Lewers fed the wriggiers to her prize ducks.

47 NATIVES DIE IN FLAMING POOL OF OIL

Rangoon, Burma, Oct. 12 (AP).—Forty-seven natives including 18 women were burned to death in a fire at Paungbe, 130 miles from Rangoon, on Monday night in a flaming pool of oil. Twenty others were seriously burned.

Meagre reports from the district state that a leak developed in a petroleum pipe line Monday and on hearing the news villagers from the surrounding country hurried to the place to collect the oil. While working, the natives suddenly found themselves in the midst of a flaming furnace which caught them before they could escape.

An investigation made later indicated that the villagers had been using a lamp with an unguarded light and that this had set the oil afire.

BEARSVILLE.

Bearsville, Oct. 11.—District Department President Sarah Elmendorf and suite will install the officers of Agapae Rebekah Lodge, No. 623, on Wednesday evening, October 17. All members are urged to be present and visiting Rebekahs will be welcome.

Charles Shultis and family are spending a two weeks' vacation.

Miss Gertrude Shultis, who has been spending some time in Kingston, has returned home.

Mr. McDonald of New York has purchased some property on the Lake Hill road of Shaffer Vredenberg and will build a summer residence on it.

Dr. and Mrs. Reiss of New York spent the week end at J. P. Lasher's.

Mrs. C. Jellinghausse and family have returned to the city for the winter.

Mrs. Walter Shultis, who has been ill, is improving and able to be out.

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Woodstock M. E. Church will hold their regular monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. Granville Yerry Tuesday afternoon, October 16.

Mrs. Warren Edgar and children of New Hamburg spent the week end with her aunt, Mrs. Foster G. Shultis.

Frieland Van De Bogart has his new house completed and has moved into it.

ETIQUETTE BOOKS.

There is fun for the typical modern girl in the old-fashioned etiquette books. She will scream over this passage from Miss Leslie's Behavior Book (1859): "It is injudicious for ladies to attempt arguing with gentlemen on political or financial topics. Truth is, the female sex is as inferior to the male in vigour of mind as in strength of body, and all statements to the contrary are founded on a few anomalies. It is much better for a lady to say too little in company than too much. Her conversation may occasionally be bright and witty, but it should not always be so. An affectionate, complying, and almost timid aspect, and a tender solicitude for those who are about her should be shown in a lady's whole person. Her face should breathe hope, gentleness and satisfaction." One is not surprised to find this dictator of etiquette declaring that only husbands and wives can "with any propriety be partners in the waltz", but this generation's eyes will pop out of its head and a good half of it will whoop with delight on reading the following instruction to the gentle ladies of seventy years ago: "Never refuse to take wine on being asked".

Merrily discussing these old-time directions to young ladies in the New York World, Elsie McCormick notes the lack of any volume to instruct young men who in these changed times "are deluged with telephone calls (from girls), invitations to take automobile rides, expensive theatre tickets, and even with flowers and fancy neckties." If a young lady is tendered an invitation, "she need only turn to her favorite etiquette book in order to learn whether to write a note of acceptance or scream for the police." But the young man, "stumbling over a new social territory," has no helpful guide. "In the matter of accepting presents, he is especially likely to run into complications. Girls have been taught for years how to accept things without committing themselves. Neither is there any gift group, corresponding to the old-fashioned "flowers, candy, books, and sheet music", which a young man can take from a woman not engaged to him and still keep safely out of lifelong vassalage. And if he tries to get by the matrimonial Scylla on the one hand, he may crash upon a breach-of-promise Charybdis on the other. Truly he needs to watch his step.

The Outdoor Writers' Association of America has decided in meeting that the varying nomenclature of game fish must be standardized and announces: The word "musky" will be used to designate the fish known in various parts of the country as muskellunge, maskinonge, muskalunge, muskallonge and so on. The fish called, according to locality, pike, pickerel, dore, Susquehanna salmon, etc., will henceforth be "wall eye". The crappie, also known as the lamp-lighter, shad, strawberry bass, and speckled bass, will be called "croppie". The native speckled trout, known by various names, will be "brook trout", and "lake trout" will be applied to the fish now called grey trout, salmon trout, Mackinaw trout, togue, landlocked salmon and other names. To what extent the fishermen of North America will take to "musky", "wall-eye", "croppie", etc., obviously remains to be seen.

One marathon record, at least, is lost to America. A German actor named Parlatus has spoken continuously for more than 45 hours. This is said to beat by two and one-half hours the record formerly held by an American woman. Of course, it is public speaking that is meant. Moreover, Herr Parlatus, not content with this achievement, after one hour's sleep, rose up and talked for 18 hours more. He has been making a week's performance of it. He is unusually qualified in other respects besides his vocal organs, being well informed in many branches of learning and able to rest himself by changing at will from one language to another, ranging through six languages. The reader may be saddened a little on learning that an examination by physicians shows the champion's pulse and respiration normal. Some people are just mean enough to hope for the worst.

It seems that "racket" now connotes a good deal more than disagreeable noise. Among the various meanings given to "racketing" are night carousing, bootlegging, hijacking, and getting easy money in such ways as selling $5 tickets to banquets to distinguished persons where "the food served is actually worth about 65 cents".

There seems to be no end of precocious babies. Ruth Silver, aged ten, not only read 459 books from the Des Moines public library between June 1 and September 1, or five a day, but "wrote a short review of each one". The state of the infant's health at the end of this literary "marathon" is not reported.

APPENDICITIS INCREASING.

I speak very frequently about appendicitis, and state that if seen at an early stage and appendix removed, that practically every patient recovers.

I've been thinking that in stressing this point, some of my readers may get the opinion that appendicitis is not seen as frequently as in former days, and that it is not such a serious matter after all. However the Bureau of Vital Statistics tells us that about 25,000 people die annually of appendicitis, in its acute form, in the United States alone.

Drs. Quain and Waldschmidt of Bismark, N. D., state that this means that there has been actually an increase of 30 per cent in the number of deaths from appendicitis within the past ten years.

Some research men tell us that there is no real increase in the number of cases, but that appendicitis is more readily diagnosed now, and cases that were formerly thought to be due to liver and other ailments, are actually cases of appendicitis.

However there can be no question but the number of deaths is really increasing, and Drs. Quain and Waldschmidt say that in spite of much effort to instruct the public about the danger of taking laxatives where there is pain in the abdomen, castor oil, epsom salts, and other purgatives, continue to aggravate and complicate acute appendicitis. In the great majority of all the severe cases they had seen, purgative medicine had been given soon after the onset of the disease. It does seem only natural, of course, to give a purgative for pain in abdomen because most of these pains are due to gas formation, and the offending substance can thus be removed.

Where there is the acute pain, and no doctor immediately available, the old fashioned injection or enema of warm water may give some relief, but even this is not considered really safe in acute conditions. If then by giving you this information from the Bureau of Vital Statistics, and the warning of these two North Dakota surgeons, it will make you consult your doctor before giving medicine in acute pain in the abdomen, it may mean the saving of your own life or that of a loved one.

VIOLINIST ENGAGED AT ST. JAMES CHURCH

HERBERT HOOVER

A Reminiscent Biography
By WILL IRWIN

(Extract from the book published by The Century Co.)

XVI. The Government's Right Hand Man.

To the people of Europe Herbert Hoover became as a superstition. In a dozen lands, writers and peasants and small tradesmen, pouring out to me their heterodox opinions of their own Governments, would pause and add: "Ah, if we only had your Mr. Hoover!"

He had declined from the first all officials decorations. But appreciative Europe found other ways. The Belgians fashioned in his honor a whole collection of those medals at which their artists are so adept. Other nations imitated this device of gratitude. From Estonia to Belgium, streets dropped their old names to become "Hooverstrasse," "Via Hoover," or "Rue Hoover." Letters of appreciation, signed by the citizenry of whole municipalities poured in for years. I have heard that the signatures of these touching documents add up to four million.

Home now. In September, 1914, he had bought passage to California. He was five years in arriving—five years as strange as any man ever lived on this planet. Eight years before the Hoovers had approved the plans for a new house. Now, on the golden hills above Stanford, they fulfilled that old dream in the first of their many habitations which—because they had built it—they could call their own.

The summer brought a dying spurt of work. For example, the affairs of a nine-billion-dollar business like the Grain Corporation are not wound up with one flourish of the pen. That passed. And now at the age of forty-six Hoover must orient himself, determine what he was going to do with the rest of his life.

A summons from President-elect Harding solved the problem. Harding offered him a place in the cabinet. It is characteristic of Hoover that he chose the one which seemed at the moment least important of all—and therefore afforded the greatest opportunity for service. On March 4, 1921, he took the oath as secretary of commerce.

"Commerce," as he found it, comprised the six bureaus of foreign and domestic commerce, fisheries, census, standards, Coast and Geodetic Survey, and navigation, together with the Lighthouse Service and Steamboat Inspection Service. Since then Hoover has taken over the Bureau of Mines, the Bureau of Patents, the All American High Commission, and the radio division. The old moribund bureaus he raised as from the dead; the new he endowed with life.

Also he has served for seven years as handy man to the administration. It was Hoover whom the President, during the hard times of 1921, assigned to direct the important Unemployment Conference; who presided over the St. Lawrence Waterway Commission; who accepted the job of stimulating the development of our water resources; who investigated our dangerous increase in traffic accidents and, by arranging co-ordination between the States, instituted one remedy. He served on the Foreign Debt Commission and on the Advisory Committee of the Washington Arms Conference. He acted by Presidential appointment as chairman of that Colorado River Commission which settled an interstate quarrel of twenty years' standing. He presided over that International Radio Conference of seventy-four nations, which settled the principles of treaties to govern this new force in civilization. He was appointed in 1927 to direct relief measures in the Mississippi flood, our greatest peace-time calamity.

And so on. . .

How does he do it all—one man, and a calm unhurried citizen at that? Of course, sheer ability is the essence of the answer.

As for the department itself, not only has Hoover developed the separate bureaus in detail but he has coordinated many bureaus to a great general purpose. And he has done this without increasing the number of government employes or piling up expenses, but by—well, how does Hoover do it?

Some of the subsidiary bureaus I can dismiss with brief mention. The Bureau of the Census always had its in-between period, when it functioned mildly if at all. Hoover has found use for the slack years. Today it is the greatest fact-finding institution in the world. The Bureau of Fisheries Hoover transformed into a live, practical organization to safeguard marine fishing and promote game fishing. The Bureau of Mines has expanded in the direction of assuring safety underground—has decreased every year the roll of mine accidents. When Hoover took hold, the Bureau of Patents was eighteen months behind its work. In 1927 it was only six months behind; and its experts told Congress that by the end of 1928 they expected to pull even.

However, these are but details. It is in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and the Bureau of Standards that Hoover has done the original work which raised the Department of Commerce to major importance.

There is always something to take the joy out of a boy's life. In winter he has to wear shoes and in summer they make him wash his feet.

How It Is Built, Is the Thing to Build On!

WHY put up with makeshifts, when masterpieces cost but little more?

Why buy furniture that merely looks good, when it is easy to own the kind that really is good?

Why pay money for mere wood and varnish when you can have genuine quality that goes through and through?

Why be satisfied with anything less than the sound, sincere craftsmanship that assures a ripe old age to any piece of furniture you buy here?

Why, indeed? The only way to build satisfaction through the year is to build your investment on furniture that is built RIGHT!

Budget Service

We are in a position to serve equally well those who prefer to pay cash, those who wish to open the usual charge account and those who wish to pay out of their income.

OFFICE CAT

By Jimins.

"George, dear, what are you reading?"

"Oh, shut up and don't bother me—can't you see I'm studying this book of etiquette?"

Probably plenty of men call their wives "Dear" because they're the expensive kind.

A poet must use his imagination. He must imagine people are going to read his poems.

Husband—Yes, dear, you look nice in that dress, but it cost me a lot of money.

Wife—Freddie, dear, what do I care for money when it is a question of pleasing you.

A dumb wife is all right if she can't talk.

It seems to be the rule that the bigger the home the fewer the occupants.

Yes, We've Met Them

There are only two kinds of girls: Those who expect things and those who suspect them.

You never see a bridegroom's picture in the papers, but there must be such a person.

Many a reputation would be saved if they could invent four-wheel brakes for a raft of idle rumors.

One of the greatest weaknesses of all is not to know one's own weakness.

When a hick moves to town, his hardest job consists in trying not to give a darn where the fire is.

A hen is the only animal that can lay around and make money.

"Baby mustn't play with razor—mama's got to open a can of beans."

I See a Form

All summer long the brazen trees
Have worn their clothes up to their knees;
More shameless still, now that it's fall,
They've impudently shed them all.

Making a mountain out of a molehill compels a lot of unnecessary tunneling.

Collegiate Son—Father, can you give me a position in your business?

Father—Yes, if you will agree to start in at the bottom and wake up.

Farmers are not the only ones who need relief. The town man would welcome some scheme that would prevent his great toe from working its way through these new rayon socks.

Girls no sooner acquire a coat of tan than they begin to look for one of fur.

"Oh, Jack! Listen to that marvelous jazz!"

"Why, that's a classical number they're playing."

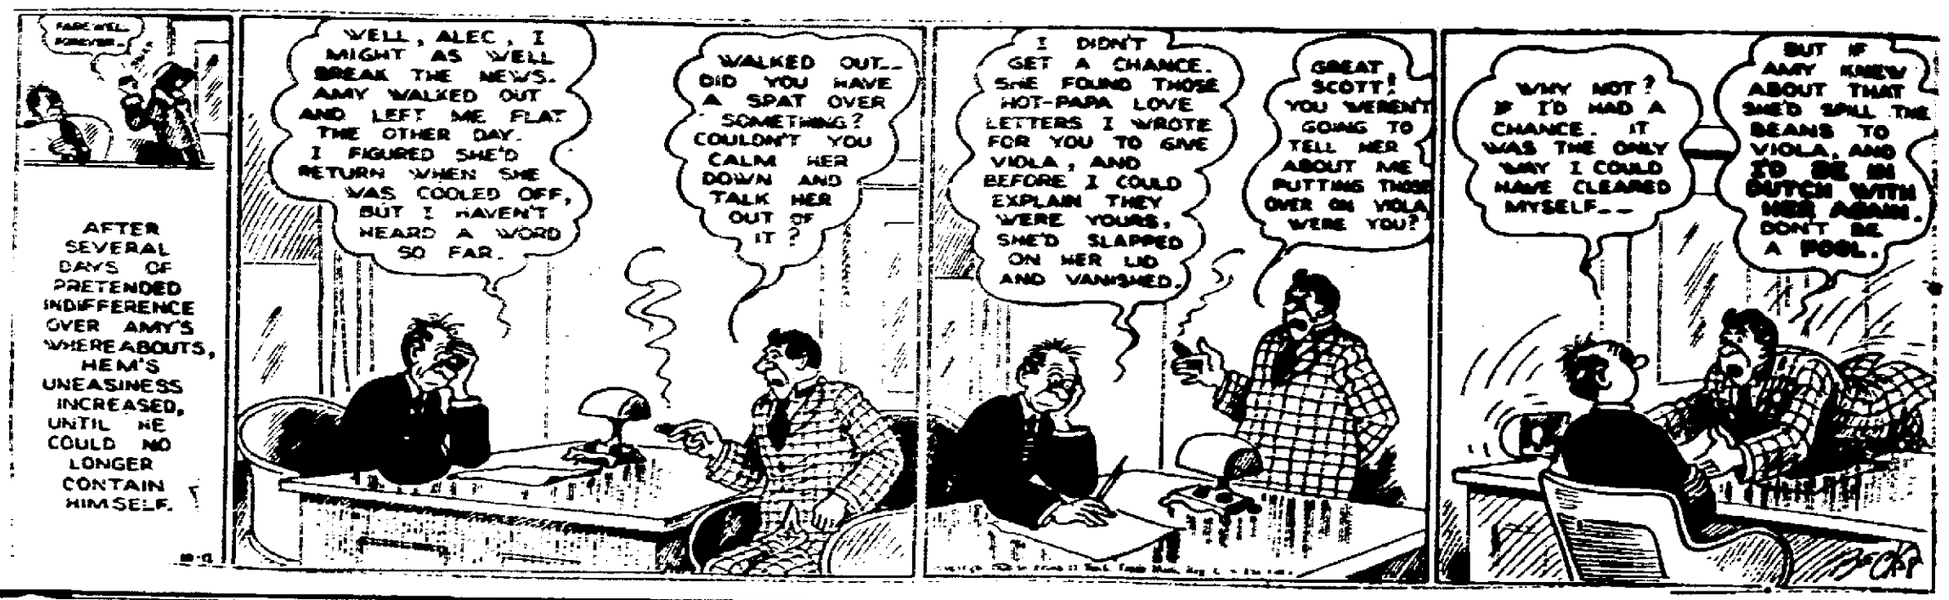

"Well, it sounds good enough to be jazz."

GAS BUGGIES—Getting Complicated.

BLOOMINGTON.

Bloomington, Oct. 11.—Church services at 9:45 and Sunday school following. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mrs. George Metcalf of Brooklyn, N. Y., has been spending a short time here with Mrs. Ira D. Bush.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Terhune and Mrs. Deanie Rickard spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Relyea and family of West Camp and enjoyed the day much. They attended services at the West Camp church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stussey of Kingston spent Wednesday with Miss H. S. Douglass.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Winter on Greenkill avenue are having their residence painted. Neal Hotaling is doing the work.

Mrs. Catherine Niebergall and daughter, Mrs. Neal Hotaling, called on Mrs. Winter on Greenkill avenue Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Deanie Rickard, a former resident of this place but now of Kingston, had a week's vacation and visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Smith. She also visited Mrs. L. Terhune. She returned to her home again on Sunday evening.

Mrs. E. L. DeGraff returned to Jersey City again on Tuesday evening after visiting her home here for a few days.

Mrs. Catherine Niebergall of Kingston came out on Friday of last week to spend a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Neal Hotaling.

Mrs. Mary Relyea, who has been ill for the past couple weeks, is slowly improving and able to be up again.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thielbar and family of Bergenfield, N. J., spent the week end with Miss H. S. Douglass.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Oct. 11.—The Parent-Teacher Association meeting will be postponed from the second Friday to the third Friday of this month on account of Columbus Day.

This Sunday will be Rally Day in the church school and worship service of the Methodist Episcopal Church. This is a good time for members who have gotten away from regular church attendance and for those who have no church affiliation, to renew their obligations to the church and community. The children of the church school will furnish a program of interest and entertainment to all who attend. Strangers welcome.

John Palen, Jr., and wife of Syracuse are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Palen.

CONVICT FLEES DEVIL'S ISLAND

Prominent Physician, Convicted of Murder, Makes Dramatic Escape.

Paris.—A brief cable from the convict settlement in French Guiana tells of the dramatic escape from the famous prison of Dr. Pierre Bourgrat, prominent Marseilles physician and member of a well-known family, who in March of last year was sentenced to hard labor for life for the murder of Jacques Rumebe, a bank collector. Although he was sentenced a year and a half ago, the doctor arrived in Guiana only a few weeks ago. He was working in the prison hospital.

Two other prisoners escaped with the doctor and squads of armed men are now searching the wild country into which the trio fled. The details, which are sure to be absorbing, are still lacking.

Many Try to Escape.

In the long and gruesome history of this French penal colony only two other men are known to be living who have escaped. The convict settlement is on the mainland, but there are three islands near by where the most incorrigible prisoners are sent. It is by the name of one of these, Devil's Island, that the convict settlement is generally known. It was on Devil's Island that Captain Dreyfus was imprisoned.

It is estimated that about 1,000 prisoners a year attempt to escape. The only two living known to have reached the other shore are Edward Guerin, one of the most expert bank thieves and international criminals in the world, and Eugene Dieudonne, French apache and member of the famous Jules Bonnot gang.

Englishman Flees.

Guerin, an Englishman, who had lived in this country for several years, was convicted of robbing the American Express company in Paris of 30,000 in April, 1901. Before that he had robbed the Bank of Lyons of 50,000. He served four years on Devil's Island and then escaped with the aid of American confederates who chartered a tramp steamer and had it lie off the coast.

Dieudonne was sentenced to life imprisonment in April, 1913, on a charge of participating in the murder of two gendarmes. With some companions he got clear of the convict settlement in December, 1926. They obtained a boat, but it capsized and only Dieudonne and one companion survived. After three months of indescribable hardship he reached Belem, in Brazil. There he was arrested. He protested his innocence, waived extradition, and returned to France, where he was pardoned last year. He married his former wife, who had waited sixteen years for him.

$2,000,000 Spent on Public Play in Year

New York.—The use of America's material abundance for enriching life was the theme announced for the fifteenth national recreation congress held at Atlantic City October 1 to 6. In 1927, the Playground and Recreation Association of America announced, $2,000,000 was spent on public play in the United States and Canada, half of it for land, buildings, equipment and materials. At the congress recreation executives discussed how to get a maximum use from this expenditure for the health and pleasure of the people.

A. Edward Newton, author; Robert [illegible] New York secretary of state; [illegible] Olsen, city planner; Duncan [illegible] Princeton university; Mrs. A. [illegible], president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers; [illegible] Gruenberg, director of the Child Study Association of America, and Joseph Lee of Boston were some of the speakers.

Four Lepers Cured; Back to Civilization

Audaku, Oesel Island, Esthonia.—Four lepers have been discharged here as completely cured by Prof. A. Paldrock of Tartu university. President Konisson of Estlonia and other notables were present at the ceremony. The president delivered to the cured lepers a brief address and declared that they now regain all their civil rights of free citizens and are at liberty to move about where they please. Professor Paldrock is well known to scientists of Europe as a dermatologist. He used for his cure for leprosy the carbon dioxide snow, which he applies with his own patented instrument, and also a gold prescription.

Exchange Pupils

Paris, France.—France and Germany for the third year have exchanged school children for goodwill vacations.

Captures Burglar With Tennis Racket

New York.—Edward Byrnes, of Brooklyn, heard an intruder in his cellar. "Give me my gun!" he cried to his wife. She handed him his tennis racket. "Don't shoot, mister," came from the cellar, "I'll give up," and a negro youth yielded the jewels and other loot he had garnered in ransacking the house.

When he forgets to kiss the wife every time he leaves she thinks he has several others around the corner some place.

Caves In The Ozarks Utilized By Farmers Producing Mushrooms

By controlling air currents, farmers in the Missouri Ozarks are successfully producing mushrooms in natural caves. The cave beds above are typical of the prolific fungus growth. At the left, below, is the common commercial mushroom while at the right is a death "cup", one of the poisonous fungi that must be distinguished from the numerous edible species.

George Kellerman, 912 Washington street, Hoboken, New Jersey.

Bertha Schreyer, Olive Gray street, Middle Village, New York.

Harry Kellerman, 207 Main street, Kingston, Ulster County, New York.

You and Each of You are hereby cited to show cause, at a Surrogate's Court to be held in and for the County of Ulster at the Surrogate's office in the City of Kingston, in said County, on the 7th day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why the last Will and Testament of Elizabeth Kellerman late of the Town of Esopus, Ulster County, deceased, presented to said Surrogate's Court, should not be admitted to probate and recorded as a Will of real and personal estate, in pursuance of the statute, on the petition of William C. Kyer of the City of Kingston, N. Y., the Executor named therein.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused the seal of said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed. Witness Hon. GEORGE F. KAUFMAN, Surrogate of our said County, at the City of Kingston, the 28th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight.

FREDERICK SCHEFFEN, JR., Attorney for Executor, No. 3 East Strand, Kingston, N. Y.

SUPREME COURT, ULSTER COUNTY

In the matter of the application of Herman Fischer, petitioner, for an order dissolving his marriage to Esther Fischer.

To ESTHER FISCHER:

Notice is hereby given to you that a petition by Herman Fischer has been presented to the Supreme Court of the State of New York and filed in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster, on the 10th day of September, 1928, praying that the marriage between yourself and said Herman Fischer be dissolved on the ground that you have absented yourself for upwards of five years, last past, without being known by said Herman Fischer to be living, by reason of which you are presumed to be dead. This notice is given to you by publication pursuant to an order made by the Supreme Court of the State of New York, and duly filed and entered in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster on the 10th day of September, 1928.

And take further notice that a hearing will be had on said petition at a Special Term of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, to be held at the County Court House in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, on the first day of December, 1928, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day and upon your failure to appear or answer said petition an order will be made dissolving the marriage between yourself and said Herman Fischer.

Dated, September 10, 1928.

AUGUSTUS H. VAN BUREN, Attorney for Herman Fischer, Office and Postoffice Address, 262 Washington Avenue, Kingston, Ulster County, New York.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. GEORGE F. KAUFMAN, Surrogate of Ulster County, notice is hereby given, according to law, to all persons having claims against Anna Doyle, late of the Town of Esopus, County of Ulster, deceased, testate, to present the same with the vouchers in support thereof, to the undersigned Executors of the estate of said deceased, at the office of Henry E. McKenzie, Port Ewen, in the said Town of Esopus, on or before the 8th day of December, 1928.

Dated, June 1, 1928

LAFURTIS DOYLE, ELLSWORTH DOYLE, Executors.

Many Stations Request Wave Assignment Change

Washington, Oct. 12 (AP).—Requests for changes in wavelengths, increases in power and alterations in hours of operation are pouring into the federal radio commission from broadcasters dissatisfied with assignments under the new allocation effective November 11.

The commission plans to start hearings about October 17. When a protest is received from a station, the commission forwards an application blank to the station owner. The application must specify what frequency, powers and hours of operations are desired by the applicant, and no application will be considered which fails to comply with this requirement, the commission says. Stations directly interested in the proposed changes are notified of the hearing.

Among the stations, which have made formal application for modification of their assignments, are the following in the central part of the country:

WCFL, Chicago Federation of Labor, requests change of frequency from 620 kilocycles to 670, 720, 770, 810, 870, or 1,000 kilocycles. Asks increase of power from 1,000 to 25,000 watts. Requests change in hours of operation from sharing with WJJD and WRM to unlimited time.

WTMJ, the Milwaukee Journal, requests change in frequency from 570 kilocycles to 920, 940, 620, 610, 930, 590 or 570 kilocycles. Requests change from sharing with WHA to full time.

WMBC, Detroit, asks change in frequency from 1,420 to 570 kilocycles and increase in power from 100 to 500 watts. Requests change from sharing with WASD to unlimited time.

WGES, Chicago, seeks increase in power from 500 to 1,000 watts and change from sharing with WJKS-WPCC to two-thirds time on 1,360 kilocycles.

WGN, the Chicago Tribune, asks increase in power from 15,000 to 25,000 watts.

WHAD, Marquette University, seeks change in frequency from 1,120 to 900 kilocycles, increase in power from 250 to 1,000 watts daytime and 750 watts nighttime. Asks change in hours of operation from one-seventh time to maximum of 12 hours a week.

Eastern stations which have asked for hearings include:

WLTH, Brooklyn, N. Y., asks increase in power from 250 to 1,000 watts and change in frequency from 1,400 to 620 kilocycles daily until 9 p. m.; 1,400 kilocycles after 9.

WEAN, Providence, R. I., requests change in frequency from 1,140 to 890 kilocycles, reduction in power from 500 to 250 watts and change in hours of operation from daytime to unlimited.

WMES, Boston, asks increase in power from 50 to 100 watts, change in frequency from 1,500 to 1,120 kilocycles and change in hours of operation from sharing with WLOE to daylight hours.

WNAC, Boston, requests change in frequency from 650 to 940 kilocycles.

In the far west, KLX, Oakland, Cal., asks change in frequency from 1,270 to ... kilocycles and change in operation from sharing with KTAB to unlimited time.

In the south, KFJZ, Fort Worth, Tex., seeks increase in power from 50 to 500 watts, change in frequency from 1,200 to 1,250 kilocycles and change in location of station in Fort Worth.

Former Football Star Sentenced

Los Angeles, Oct. 12 (AP).—In strange contrast to the thunderous applause which followed Johnny Hawkins four years ago when he was captain and star quarterback of the University of Southern California football team, the former grid hero heard a sentence of from five to seventy-five years' imprisonment for burglary pronounced against him in court here yesterday.

The one-time hero of thousands of students on the university campus and the idol of Southern California grid fans stood with head bowed when his long personal appeal for probation was denied and the sentence to San Quentin was pronounced.

Hawkins pleaded guilty to five charges of burglary after being caught robbing a house here last January. Discovery later of $35,000 worth of plunder in his home resulted in thirty charges of burglary being placed gainst him. The exact length of his term will be decided by the state prison board, but it cannot be less than five nor more than seventy-five years under the wording of the sentence.

In his confession Hawkins said that his real estate business had been bankrupt and that he was forced to resort to robbery to obtain money for a major operation which his young wife had to undergo. Later his brother, Jimmy Hawkins, became involved in the asserted thefts and is awaiting trial. Johnny Hawkins absolved the younger boy of any connection with the crimes.

Hawkins' attorney offered as defense in his trial that the former football player had received head injuries on the gridiron which caused him to turn criminal. The former football star pleaded with the court for nearly an hour, asking probation, even for life, in lieu of imprisonment.

Cathedral Made Dear by Old Associations

After Canterbury cathedral had been restored from the great fire of 1174, pious Englishmen so revered the beauty of this stronghold of the Church of England that they came from far and near and even those not so religiously inclined made their "Canterbury pilgrimages." For 300 years this was kept up and many an inn sprang from existence to prosperity in the shadow of the sacred edifice. In time some of these pilgrimages became less of a religious exercise than a favorite summer excursion and their history is shadowed in our word "canter" which is the shortened form of "Canterbury gallop."

Another interesting thing associated with this cathedral is the division of the Bible into two chapters. Stephen Langton, who died in 1228, was cardinal and archbishop of Canterbury besides being a statesman of no mean force. This was the age of the beginnings of organized learning and Cardinal Langton, after distinguishing himself as a teacher, gave his time a standardized text of the Vulgate—there being up until then almost as many versions as there were Bibles. It was in this work that he made the innovation of dividing the lengthy books into chapters, thus making specified passages much easier to find.—Detroit News.

Be Charming

In the world there is no duty more important than that of being charming. Without the jeweled presence of the humming bird, how gloomy would be the recesses of the forest! Is it not one of the most delightful duties of life to shed joy around you; to scatter happiness with your every word and movement; to cast a light into the dark corners of our life; to be the gilded cord that lends our destiny, and to be the true spirit of beauty and harmony?—Victor Hugo.

Ancient Roman Art

One of the most beautiful examples of art as practiced by the ancient Romans is known as the Trajan's column.

Situated in Rome, this tower, which consists of twenty-three tiers, soars into the air, an imposing figure, covered with about 25,000 gloriously sculptured figures.

The tower was built to celebrate the victories of the Emperor Trajan, whose remains are buried beneath this beautiful structure.

Times Have Changed

"Ah," sighed the old-time actor, as he came back from a last appearance on the stage, "there was a time when I had the whole audience sobbing every time I recited that pathetic poem. Now they sit there like a lot of mummies!"

"Bo," said the stage hand, "the only way you can make a modern matinee mob turn on the water tanks is to make them peel onions during the recital of your sob stuff or spray 'em with tear gas."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Food of Silkworms

Baby silkworms can suck the juice from only young tender leaves of the mulberry tree, but as they grow older the older leaves must be fed them.

FIFTH AVENUE NEW YORK

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

St. Louis—A queen of love and beauty is likely to be dethroned because she is a bride. Mary Ambrose Smith, banker's daughter, presumed to be single, was crowned last week at the Veiled Prophet's ball, a society function. The rule is that the queen shall remain unmarried during her reign of a year. It turns out that Miss Smith was married in August to Dr. T. C. Birdsall at Winston-Salem, N. C.

Chicago—Eugenia Zicha, Czecho-Slovakian countess and opera singer, is happy to have received a divorce from Dr. Michael H. Kyriak. She was so delighted that she kissed Judge Sabath—on the forehead.

San Antonio—Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. McNutt of Bloomington, Ind., are especially happy over his election as commander of the American Legion at the San Antonio convention. It was in San Antonio that they were married in wartime when he was stationed here as an artillery officer.

Berlin—The Germans like Mary Lewis, American singer. They gave her five encores at her Berlin debut and took especial delight in "Carry Me Back to Ol' Virginny". She comes from Arkansas.

London—The Earl of Lonsdale, patron of turf and boxing, known as "The King of British Sport", has been made a Knight of the Garter.

Atlantic City—Saturday remains the night of the bath, come what may. "There are more devotees of the Saturday night bath in these United States than there are genuinely faithful 365 baths a year experts by a very wide margin," said Roscoe E. Edlund, director of the Cleanliness Institute of New York, in an address.

Villa Nova, Pa.—Eddie Foy is a hero. Two workmen were overcome by gas in a manhole. Eddie plunged in and rescued them, then was overcome himself. This Eddie is a medical student at Villa Nova. His home is in St. Augustine, Fla.

Washington—Uncle Sam is shedding some breeches. The army is to sell 1,336,558 pairs of olive drabs. They were made for war use.

A. T. & T. Is Largest

New York.—The American Telephone and Telegraph is now the largest privately owned and controlled corporation in the world. Its assets of more than $3,500,000,000 are exceeded only by the German and English railway systems, which are under government supervision.

Golf by Wireless

New York.—Teams of the Honolulu and New York Rotary clubs are to play golf by wireless. The winner will be the team which gives par the worst walloping on a home course.

Times Change

New York.—Pawnee Bill is in town with a grievance. Cowboys are now ten-tippiers and wear wrist watches instead of six-shooters.

"Values They Talk About"

5TH ANNIVERSARY SALE!

Commencing at 8:00 o'clock Saturday, October 13th

We are celebrating our Fifth Anniversary, five years of progress, building up our business from a small store to a store that today ranks as one of the leading Women's Apparel Shops in Ulster County.

How have we accomplished this wonderful growth? May we explain with pardonable pride? By giving our customers value, giving them service and giving them satisfaction. Through satisfaction, value and service we have built up a wonderful system of advertising. Not newspaper advertising or bill boards, but advertising of RECOMMENDATION: our customers recommending our store to their friends for their merchandise. The advertising we prize highly. It is advertising that money cannot buy.

To show our appreciation to THE PUBLIC, WE ARE CONDUCTING OUR FIFTH ANNIVERSARY SALE. We are lowering our prices and giving extra values. We have combined our buying and manufacturing power for ten stores located in Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Schenectady, Elizabeth, Trenton, Perth Amboy, Wilmington, Del.; Baltimore, Md., and Freeport, L. I. Through this combined merchandising we are able to give values they talk about.

These savings are reflected in the record-breaking low prices. Never such vast assortments before—never such low prices. See for yourself what we are saving you with this sale. COME AND CELEBRATE WITH US.

ALANSON HOUGHTON FOR U. S. SENATOR

Expert in Foreign Affairs Picked for Service in Upper House.

Mr. Houghton started life as a shipping clerk in his father's glass factory at Corning, New York. After plodding for several years in subordinate jobs he became sales manager and seven years later, president of the company.

His public career began in 1918 when he was elected to Congress. He served two terms in that body, acting on the Committee on Ways and Means and on the Committee on Foreign Relations, in which capacity he utilized his knowledge of German conditions.

In 1922 President Harding appointed him Ambassador to Germany, where he negotiated the agreement for a Mixed Claims Commission to settle the claims of this country against Germany arising out of the war, and in other ways did much to adjust post war conditions and pave the way for the Dawes Plan Settlement. In 1925 he resigned the German post to succeed Frank B. Kellogg as United States Ambassador to Great Britain.

Mr. Houghton's marriage to Miss Adelaide Wellington, of Corning, New York, took place in 1890, and five children were born, the family making its home in Corning until Mr. Houghton's appointment to foreign service.

Mr. Houghton is in the direct line of promotion in the diplomatic service for the office of Secretary of State and will at once receive in the United States Senate the commanding position accorded in that body to experience in foreign affairs.

He has filled the highest positions in the foreign service within the gift of an administration whose conduct of foreign affairs through the trouble-some post war period has been the most brilliant and successful in our history.

That is the sort of man the Empire State and the country need in the United States Senate.

Off They Come!

A particularly stout lady attired in a very tight riding-habit was taking her morning canter in the Row, accompanied by her husband. Suddenly a button, unable to stand the great pressure, flew off the lady's coat.

"Dear, dear," said the lady fretfully "what makes these buttons come off?"

Her escort quivered with excitement for he had thought of something funny.

"Ahem! Force of habit, my dear," he grinned in reply.—London Answers.

Victor McLaglen

In two years this husky English "movie" favorite who adventured over the world before entering filmdom, has had a remarkable rise in popularity, beginning with his portrayal of Captain Flagg in "What Price Glory." Four new pictures in which he appears are "The River Pirate," "The Baggage Smasher," "All Velvet" and "Captain Lash." McLaglen was born in a suburb of London, but spent the most of his life in South Africa. He served in the World war.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

INTELLECTUAL INFANTS

MOST parents realize that children like to ask questions.

They realize also that their offspring's queries are likely to be most persistent when the victim is trying to concentrate on something else, or when he doesn't know the answer to the question.

At such time many parents take refuge in "Don't ask questions, dear." This saves them the annoyance of turning their attention to the new subject; and it saves their pride if they don't know the answer to the question that is being propounded.

It is, however, a rather cowardly subterfuge. And it is rather discouraging for the child.

In the past curiosity has been looked upon rather as a vice. "Curiosity killed a cat," says some one when a child seems to be overinquisitive. And that seems to be the end of the matter.

There are several kinds of curiosity. One is a snooping, meddling, gossipy sort often met with.

The other is the driving force behind great inventions and discoveries.

Columbus was not interested in prying into his neighbors' private affairs. But he did want to know what was on the other side of the ocean.

Amundsen was similarly interested in the region between Alaska and the North pole.

Edison was curious to know if the human voice could be reproduced. Every great scientist, inventor and explorer that ever lived has been actuated by curiosity.

* * * * * * * *

And so we see that curiosity, far from being a mere annoying inquisitiveness, may be a very noble thing.

Of late the term "intellectual curiosity" has come into vogue. It is not a disparaging term. On the contrary anyone who is possessed of a bump of intellectual curiosity is generally conceded to be a highbrow.

Most children do not ask questions because they want to be annoying. They ask questions because they want to know the answers. In the same way did Sophocles ask questions of the citizens of Athens.

A child has not been in the world as long as an adult. Consequently it has not had as much opportunity to learn things good and bad. Shall it be condemned for wanting to learn them?

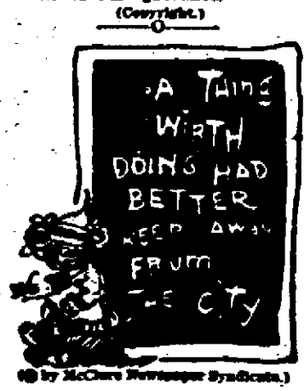

* * * * * * * *

If you stop to consider it, curiosity is rather a hopeful sign in a child. A dull person doesn't want to know about things. But an intelligent one does—about the things in which he is interested anyway.

It is irritating to be interrupted when you are in the midst of a train of thought. But if the child is really anxious to acquire knowledge his offense is certainly forgivable.

And no wise person is ever ashamed to admit that he doesn't know the answer to a question. Sophocles, the wisest of the Greeks, said that his knowledge lay in his unashamed admission of his ignorance.

Conference of Jewish Leaders

A number of outstanding Jewish leaders of this city and state will attend the national Non-Zionist Conference to be held, under the chairmanship of Louis Marshall, at the Hotel Biltmore, New York, on October 20-21.

The main purpose of the conference, according to Mr. Marshall, is to take measures for the organization of the proposed enlarged Jewish Agency, as provided under the terms of the Mandate for Palestine held by the British government.

The conference will also act upon the report of the Palestine Survey Commission which was created by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, and Louis Marshall, representing the non-Zionist elements, for the purpose of framing a comprehensive and systematic program for the future upbuilding of Palestine.

Among those who have already accepted Mr. Marshall's invitation to the conference are the following:

Willinh Barnet, Samuel Hessberg and Bertram M. Aufsesser of Albany, N. Y.; Williard W. Saperston of Buffalo, N. Y.; M. F. Aufsesser of Cohoes, N. Y.; Paul Israelson of Haverstraw, N. Y.; Rabbi Simon R. Krinsky of Hudson, N. Y.; Nathaniel R. Gross and Morris Kaplan of Kingston, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilk of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Gustave J. Silberberg and Louis S. Silberberg of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Jack Siegel of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Samuel Edelberg of Saranac Lake, N. Y.; Rabbi Benjamin Friedman and Bernard B. Given of Syracuse, N. Y.; Eugene H. Lehman of Tarrytown, N. Y.; Samuel Reichler of Utica, N. Y.; and Samuel Blumner of Yonkers, N. Y.

Bottle-Raised Apple Tree Something New

Milk-fed chickens and even milk-fed porkers are no novelty, but did you ever sink your teeth into a milk-fed apple? It seems that a Brockton matron was about to set out a young apple tree and sought the advice of a nearby storekeeper as to how it should be planted.

He advised digging a hole large enough to hold the roots. Then a short section of garden hose should be put in place, reaching from the surface to the roots, before the hole was filled in. Milk, poured down the tubing every day, would give the baby tree nourishment until it got strong enough to take care of itself.

Some time afterward he inquired of the lady how the tree was getting on. "It is doing finely," she replied. "I give it milk every day, as you advised." The storekeeper looked stunned, then raised his hands in despair.

"My Lord!" he gasped. "Didn't you know I was only joking about that?"

The bottle raised-little tree no longer gets its daily ration from contented cows, but maybe when it begins to develop apples they will have a creamy flavor.—Montreal Family Herald.

Remarkable Work of Hindu Stone Carvers

The majestic stone carvings to be found on all ancient buildings in India, gigantic Buddhas, the bulls and the marvelous bas-reliefs are among the wonders of the world. Equally marvelous are the fretted walls of old Mogul palaces, Futtehpore Sikri, and the forts at Agra and Delhi. Wonderful artists and craftsmen have worked on this hard sandstone and left us a world's heritage. We stand amazed at their skill and patience. They do not work like that in this, our day.

But the humble craft of stone cutting thrives, says a writer in the Statesman, of Calcutta, wherever stone quarries are found. The red hills of Rajputana send masses of stone to Agra, and these on the outskirts of the city are the factories of the patient toilers who chip and cut by hand, contriving grinding stones and dishes and bowls with the same instruments that cut the stones for the Taj, and carved and fretted the screen in that far-famed tomb and the deserted palaces of the fort.

The Party Line

"I says to May Ellen when her beau an' her fell out, 'Theys lots bigger fish in th' sea than ever was catched,' an' she sniffles, 'What good's thet to folks livin' inland?'

"'It's flyin' again' providence to be like th' Widow Jones that throws th' empty tomato cans right under her sign, 'Country Board—Strictly Fresh Vegetables.'

"Kate Ellery was in to 'ast th' manager of th' Bijou Dream theater not to spray thet perfume in his place no more, because her man allus tells her his coat got smellin' thet way from goin' to th' pitchers, an' she ain't so sure."—Kansas City Star.

Emma Calve, prima donna of Carmen fame, tells this story against herself in her memoirs, "My Life":

"I once had an English maid. She was a thoroughly good girl, truthful, honest, obliging, but lacked tact. One day, when on a long train journey, she noticed that a rope of pearls I usually wore were missing, and panic seizing her, exclaimed:

"'Oh, madam, where are your pearls?'

"'At home in the safe, I told her, adding that I never wore them when traveling.

"'Oh, what a pity!' she said. 'They make you look like a real lady.'"

MOUNTAINEER'S PROMISE GIVES SETTLEMENT SCHOOL TO HILLS

From the initial donation of a farm by Bill Henderson, a mountaineer, to Rev. Hiram Frakes (upper left) has grown a settlement school in the hills near Pineville, Ky. Henderson is shown below with his family. Above is the postmaster and his family at Linda, Ky., mailing point for the school. The cabin below was converted into a home for the first teacher.

The Hustlers

An American was airing his views on the country as he saw it.

"There's nothing much the matter with this little island," he began. "All you want is a little more hustle."

At that moment there was a clamoring noise, and a fire-engine flashed round the corner.

"What's that?" gasped the visitor. His friend smiled.

"Oh," he replied coolly, "that's only the district window-cleaning company working overtime."—London Answers.

Planting in Memory

The memorial tree idea that has been taken up throughout the country under the leadership of the American Tree association lends itself admirably to the Road of Remembrance plan. This should be kept in mind by every tree planter, for if the tree is a memorial tree or the road is a road of remembrance the planting must be of such character that those for whom the trees are planted would be proud of the new beauty given to the world.

Premier Makes Three Predictions

Great Yarmouth, England, Oct. 12 (AP).—Addressing the Liberal Federation Conference today, former Premier Lloyd George made three predictions in connection with the general election next year:

There would be an overwhelming majority votes in condemnation of the present government.

There would be an enormous accession of strength to the Liberal party.

And whatever the party was that was in the majority it would not be socialistic.

Bargains In Apples This Fall

Chicago, Oct. 12 (AP).—An apple a day may keep the doctor away, but two apples per diem would suit the fruit growers with 100,000,000 bushels ready to market, a great deal better.

The government Bureau of Agricultural Economics today pointed out that bumper crops of fruit have resulted in a consequent price drop. In West Virginia, for example, the average price to farmers is 80 cents a bushel, compared with $1.60 last year. Record-breaking crops of peaches, pears and grapes are given as the chief reason for apples being bargains this fall.

Girls who used to make faces at boys now make faces for them.

Hi-Y Banquets H. S. Teachers

Instead of the regular Hi-Y meeting on Wednesday, the club held its annual faculty reception banquet at the Y. M. C. A. banquet room. Many members and teachers of the high school were present. All enjoyed the repast served by the Hi-Y Auxiliary. Robert Strickland, chairman of the entertainment committee, made a report of the Hallowe'en dance to be held at the Y's Men's Lodge at Glenerie on October 30. Then Gordon Wirth welcomed the faculty, explaining that the banquet was held to bring the students and teachers into closer relations. Principal Van Ingen responded to Mr. Watts and thanked the Hi-Y Club for the banquet.

Prof. Bosman, dean of New York University, was the speaker of the evening. He spoke on the subject of the relation of the student and his teacher. He said that it is a mutual relation of understanding. He illustrated his talk with jokes and experiences of his own and others. The address was well received and enjoyed by everyone. The banquet was concluded by singing the Alma Mater.

Historic Fort Damaged.

New Silhouettes in Fall Models

Late Fashions Accentuate Broader Outline; Puffs, Panels, Flounces.

Although there is a general trend towards a broader silhouette, it is just as important to dress your type. There is a tendency to depart almost entirely from a straight line and introduce broader lines with puffs, panels, flounces and plaits. However, the wise person will always suit the general mode to her own individual purposes. There is a strong movement on in Paris to adapt the new fashions to individual needs sartorially.

In general effect, the sports theme is being replaced with a subtle and genuinely feminine outline. Although the slenderness of past seasons will not be abandoned, the entire trend is toward a figure with delicate curves. The fashion of the moment is to emphasize these curves but in no wise encourage a heaviness of figure. The feminine movement is stressed with both draped and fluttering movements, and it is wise to heed the call of fashion. But there have always been certain types whose lines are best exhibited in a sports theme, and these persons will wisely heed a straight silhouette with just a few of the variations of the fall season to pronounce them new.

Loretta Young, like all the film players in Hollywood, has seen the handwriting on the wall and has selected her new costumes with an eye to feminine charms. In her newest film, Miss Young wears a simple but charming frock of cream flat crepe which has an accordion-plaited, flounced skirt. It has a wide belt and a novel treatment in organdie collars and cuffs in which cherry red ribbon and embroidery lend a smart note. The new sleeves are puffed at the cuffs.

Velvet Jacket Suit Is in Fashion Limelight

Velvet jacket suits are prominent in the fashion picture not only because of their new rich colors, bottle green, lipstick red, sapphire and rich brown, as well as plaids combining these shades, but because they very amusingly duplicate the new peplum silhouette of the frocks, having a circular peplum attached to the bottom of the jacket just below the leather belt which encircles the low waist. With the peplum attached to the jacket, the skirt has no other duty than to remain plain and wrapped, though it does sometimes have a deep circular flounce bordering it, so that with the jacket on, the effect is that of a velvet dress with flat fur collar and cuffs and with two circular tiers making up the skirt.

Another unusual feature of these jacket suits is the general adoption of a gay sweater blouse to be worn under the jacket. In most cases this is really an ordinary, if extraordinarily vivid, sweater, but in other cases it is a creation of brocaded lame or cut velvet made to resemble a sweater blouse as nearly as possible.

Crepe de Chine Used in Gowns for Formal Wear

Crepe de chine is gradually re-establishing itself as a dressy material. One large house uses it for evening dresses again.

One of the most successful models is unusually long in the back with a panel that has considerable fullness. The two front panels are much shorter. The waist is bloused and is finished in front with a brilliant buckle.

Jeweled shoulder straps are strongly indicated for winter evening gowns. They will be of jade, crystal, rubies, emeralds and sapphires.

Printed Silk Lingerie

Most exquisitely made is lingerie of printed silk that has a pattern of delicate pink roses with blue leaves. Appliques of pink silk and bindings of the same add much elegance to this lingerie.

GLOWING COLORS, NOTABLY REDS AND YELLOWS, ARE ACCLAIMED

New York—Yellow is welcomed again to the world of the fashionably dressed. It has been revived not only for evening, but has appeared with brown and with black and navy, too, for that matter, for street wear. It seems to be as much of a favorite for formal use as it was at one time for sports.

Yellow bouicle sweaters and yellow flannel blouses of the tuck-in or over the skirt type have been reported from hither and you during the autumn. One is constantly being surprised, by the way, in the color range of this autumn's sports clothes. Purples and blues have become all important in this category.

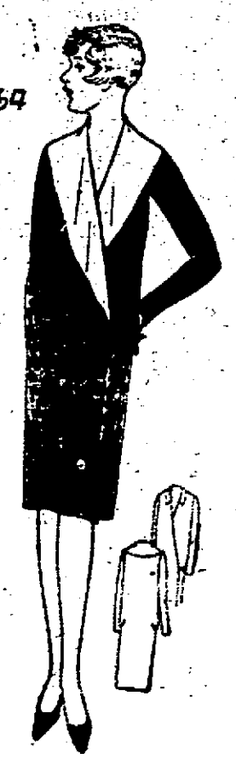

Rose Colored Moire Is Heavily Shirred and Caught Up on the Side in Bo-Peep Fashion, While the Opposite Side Dips Down. An Extra Shirred Tier Is Posed on One Side Only and Is Caught Up in the Same Manner as the Foundation. (Sketch copyrighted, 1928 by Fairchild).

For evening there are yellow—greens, also combination of the two shades, as well as red-yellows, chez Lanvin, a warm, rich color range which has won many devotees. There seems little restraint so far as color is concerned at the moment. Everywhere one looks a glow of color meets the eye. The number of red, really brilliant red dresses, and the growing number of red coats is remarkable.

Exaggerated side draperies and other treatments lately have upset one's calculations as regards the importance of the dipping back silhouette, or the more ultra bustle movement. One of the important changes is that the side treatment has been adopted for youthful types instead of being more or less confined to or in any event associated with matron types.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Trim and Sporty Style.

6264. This stylish Coat Dress has the popular side closing, with overlapping fronts, and a choice of two collars, one small and rolled, and the other in shawl effect, wide over the shoulders. The garment blouses slightly at the sides above the hips. The sleeve is fitted. Jersey weaves, twill, flannel, silk crepe or satin are excellent materials for this model. Canton crepe would be fine or crepe satin, using the reverse side for facing on the collar and for piping.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. To make the dress for a 16-year size will require 2¾ yards of 35-inch material together with ⅝ yard of contrasting material for facing on the shawl collar if made as pictured in the large view. If made with the small collar 2⅝ yards of material is required. the width of the dress at the lower edge is 1¾ yard.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Kidney Troubles and Indigestion Were— Wrecking His Health

But Since Using Dr. Frauch's Nu-Erb, Says He is Feeling Better Than for Years.

"Kidney troubles and indigestion were getting a strong hold on me when I started using Nu-Erb," said E. H. J. Leonard, a former employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad Shops, who is now making his home at Dallas, Pa.

"My kidneys were very weak. I would have to get up a lot nights to get relief, and experienced burning, aching pains. I became very nervous. My stomach and liver got out of fix and I suffered a lot from gas, dizzy spells, insomnia and headaches.

"I started taking Nu-Erb and found it to be just the thing for these troubles. It quickly put my kidneys in first rate shape. I don't have to get up nights now, sleep better than for years. My nerves are strong again. My dizzy spells and indigestion have disappeared. I haven't had a headache since I started using this grand medicine and I am feeling better and stronger in every way than for any time that I can remember."

Dr. Frauch's Nu-Erb, due to the fact that it has such an amazing effect on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, banishes such ills as headaches, dizzy spells, gas and sour stomach, nervousness, backache, rheumatism and builds new strength and energy. It is pleasant to take and the effects are quickly felt.

Isabella Drug Store, 322 Wall street, is the only place in Kingston where Nu-Erb may be purchased. Or use the Nu-Erb mail order service. Headquarters there and let them explain to you more fully the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Legionnaires Put Kingston on Map At San Antonio

Only Outfit Equipped With Car Lettered With Name of Their Town—Only Delegation Bearing Greetings To San Antonio's Mayor from Home.

(Special to The Freeman)

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 8.—We have at last reached the Mecca of American Legionism—San Antonio—and how! Yesterday we stopped at Houston and paraded for half an hour. The town now known Kingston, N. Y. All day yesterday we passed through rice fields, cotton fields, sugar plantations, oil fields, cattle ranges. What a state Texas is.

We reached San Antonio about 7 p. m. and immediately paraded to the Gunter Hotel at the head of the Empire State delegation and gave a concert in the lobby. We then marched to the St. Anthony Hotel where we serenaded National Commander Spafford who made a speech to his buddies and friends from Kingston. The national commander wore a 10-gallon white flannel hat. The streets were crowded with thousands of Legionnaires from all the states in the Union. Our parade was enthusiastically applauded and lustily cheered—most of them yelling "Kingston, N. Y.—I never heard of it."

After the parade we had dinner in a U. S. Army open-air dining room. No style but what a meal. We then returned to our Pullmans, parked near the S. A. A. P. station, changed clothing and started seeing the town. San Antonio is a beautiful city of about 250,000 population. It is very clean and has fine streets, the most modern hotels and shops and some exquisitely modeled buildings. There seem to be but few colored people here, but about 75,000 Mexicans, whom they call Spicks.

Daylight Temperature 120 Degrees.

Oh, boy, isn't it hot here. It was 120 today in the sun. But it cools off at night and good sleep is possible.

The main business section is roped off for about 20 square blocks. No traffic is admitted. Here, in the hotel district, the Legionnaires and Auxiliaries pack the streets from house to house, and frolic to their heart's content. I saw one fellow in the window of the 12th story of the Gunter Hotel dropping paper bags filled with water down on the heads of his buddies. Another chap split open his pillow and showered feathers down on the crowds below, the first snow San Antonio has ever had. Here everything is fun and good fellowship and comradeship of a type found nowhere outside the American Legion. It is the fellowship founded on a common experience during the days of 1918-19.

This morning we were up bright and early and reported at 10:30 at the historic Alamo, where the drum corps was photographed by the official photographer of National Headquarters. Color bearers were Ben Winne and Marty Hagenlocker; guards, Ed. Geschwinder and Earl Haley, all in uniform.

A laundryman came to our cars this morning and took our soiled clothes which will be returned to us this evening. We'll have another load for him tomorrow. A shirt lasts about an hour and then it is soaked with perspiration.

Mayor Dempsey's Letter Presented

After having our picture taken, we marched to the beautiful city hall, up the stairs to the mayor's office, and Alderman Sam Mann presented a letter of salutation and greetings from Mayor Dempsey—felicitations and best wishes from Kingston, N. Y., to San Antonio, Texas. We were the only delegation here to do this. The mayor responded with a speech.

We got our official Oldsmobile car today. We put on the hood which we brought along, reading "Official Car, Drum Corps, American Legion, Kingston, N. Y." We are the only outfit here so equipped. The crowds all yelled "Kingston" at us when the car passed. Kingston generously sent our boys on this trip, but we hope enough benefit will be returned to compensate. If any city in the U. S. A. is being put over down here, it is Kingston, N. Y.

The parade is on tomorrow—11 miles long, six hours to pass the reviewing stands. Everything—banks, stores, shops,—closes in San Antonio all day tomorrow. What an experience it will be.

State Commander McKay appointed your correspondent, who is a delegate to the National Convention, to represent New York State on the National Americanism and Education Committee. With all the fun and frolic, serious work must be done, and this goes on all over town wherever there is room and quiet enough to meet, discuss and act.

Everyone Hot But Happy.

Everyone is well, happy, sunburned, hot and smiling. We were told not to drink the water here, but have found it to be pure, cold and satisfying. What water we do drink, and how refreshing it is in this heat.

It is now 6 p. m. The sun is beginning to settle and the air is getting delightfully cool. Your correspondent is writing this seated in the shade outside our Pullman in the railroad yard. And, as he dines tonight at seven with Governor Dan Moody and the boys from Texas, it behooves him to snap out of this and police up for the festivities.

The Rondout Presbyterian Church will hold their annual turkey dinner and fair on October 23-24. The dinner will be served Tuesday from 5:30 to 7 o'clock and the usual supper on Wednesday at the same hour. Spring, summer, autumn and winter will greet you.—Advertisement.

COLOSSAL BEAST OF OOE; DESERT ATE SELF TO DEATH

Grew Larger With Each Generation Until It Could No Longer Navigate.

Peking.—That colossal beast, said to be about as long in body as the Woolworth building is high and whose bones were found by the Central Asiatic expedition led by Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, died because he ate himself out of existence.

This explanation was made by Dr. Walter Granger, chief paleontologist of the expedition, who said he had found evidence that the creature was a vegetarian, eating chiefly the smaller branches of trees.

"The beast lived on the fat of the land of its birth," Doctor Granger said. "It grew larger and larger with each succeeding generation until after a million years it became so roly-poly that it could no longer navigate. It finally gave up the ghost, having eaten itself out of existence because it was too enormous for any earthly use."

Doctor Andrews disclosed that the expedition had found that men armed with weapons of stone and women adorned by spoils of the hunt lived 20,000 years ago in what is now the Gobi desert.

"These people were wonderfully clever," Doctor Andrews said. "They lived apparently in a transition period between the old and new Stone ages. The countryside was saturated with people."

At the time they lived in the area it was a fertile land with trees and lakes and plentiful annual rainfall. Now the climate has changed and the country is not so thickly populated and the discovery of the new fossil area in ancient lake beds indicate the effect a change in climate had.

Suitors in Lima Have Rules on How to Court

Lima, Peru.—Youth in this part of the world is not flaming, and the courtly roles of society still prevail. Witness the following from the etiquette columns of a Lima newspaper:

"On making his first visit, the young man will feel dismayed if he does not know exactly what to talk about, equally as the girl who finds herself in the same circumstances.

"To avoid the unpleasant moments these two young persons"—referring to an uneasy looking couple in the illustration—"are passing, remember that it is always more interesting to talk of other persons, and not about one's self. The girl will converse about matters which interest the man. If he has musical tastes, she might tell him about the girl who supports her mother by giving piano lessons. If books interest him, she should talk of the last one she has read and narrate the situation, tragic or comic, in which one of the characters was placed. On his part, the youth should do all possible to make the conversation agreeable and entertaining.

"On his first visit a boy should remain not more than half an hour. Tea may be served, but it should be very light. When he leaves, the young man should not ask permission to call again. If the people of the house want his friendship to continue, they will invite him to dinner or tea at the first opportunity."

Says "Deadly" Insects Are Really Harmless

Ithaca, N. Y.—Most of the insects which people believe to be deadly are in reality harmless, according to Dr. W. J. Baerg of the University of Arkansas, and he should know, he says, because he has been bitten by more of these "deadly" insects than any other living entomologist.

Doctor Baerg included nearly all tarantulas in a thesis to that effect read here at the fourth International Congress of Entomology, and he bases his conclusions on personal encounters with scorpions and such reputedly poisonous insects during many years of study.

Doctor Baerg told of having injected some scorpion poison into his own body. He experienced nothing but a "severe pain."

Gets Back His Hat and Faith in Human Nature

Louisville.—Walter Fisher had his faith in human nature restored together with his hat, which had been lost a year, when he complained to a checkroom manager at the state fair grounds.

Mrs. H. H. Foskett saw Mr. Fisher standing near the checkroom with a large box of candy under his arm.

"Don't you want to check that box with us?" asked Mrs. Foskett.

"No," Mr. Fisher replied. "I checked a hat here last year and lost it."

Mrs. Foskett asked for and received a description of the hat, and produced it from the checkroom.

Fisher was so flabbergasted he presented the box of candy to Mrs. Foskett and wore the hat off having gone to the fair bareheaded.

Japanese Goldfish Sold for 100 Pounds

New York.—One hundred pounds, British gold, for one fish was the top price paid at the recent British Aquarists' association exhibition in London.

The fish was a blue, telescopic-eyed veiltail, one of the new forms of goldfish bred by the Japanese. Gold, white and black in these forms are common, but blue is a rarer color.

SEND GREETING:

You and each of you are hereby cited to show cause at a Surrogate's Court, to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Surrogate's office, in the City of Kingston, in said County, on the 30th day of October, next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why the account of proceedings of Ralph K. Forsyth and Jos. M. Fowler, of the City of Kingston, as Executors of the Last Will and Testament of said deceased, should not be judicially settled and allowed upon the petition of said Executors.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused the seal of office of said Surrogate to be hereunto affixed. Witness Hon. GEORGE F. KAUFMAN, Surrogate of our said County, at the City of Kingston, the 29th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight.

N. Y. City Eagerly Awaits Arrival Of Big Dirigible

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—New York city today eagerly awaited the arrival of the Graf Zeppelin and meanwhile planed elaborate receptions for her crew and passengers.

Five military planes from Mitchell Field, Long Island, and many commercial ships bearing photographers and reporters are to act as an escort for the dirigible, along with the two navy blimps from Lakehurst. They planned to take off as soon as the Zeppelin nears the coast and fly with her over the city.

Monday the city's official welcome will be given the air travelers. They are scheduled to arrive at Jersey City by train from Lakehurst at 12:07 p. m. There they will be met by the Municipal Tug Macon which will bring them across the Hudson river to the Battery, landing place of many distinguished visitors. There they will enter automobiles and with an army and navy escort parade to city hall where Mayor Walker will extend the city's official welcome. The ceremonies are to be broadcast by WNYC.

After the reception at city hall the visitors will be taken on an automobile tour of the city, ending at the Advertising Club on Park avenue where they are to be guests at luncheon. They will be guests at a private dinner that night and then attend a show.

Lakehurst Crew Ready to Handle the Graf Zeppelin

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 12 (AP).—Officers and enlisted men of the naval air station today settled down to a period of watchful waiting for the Graf Zeppelin.

If the wind is favorable and not too strong the big Zeppelin will be run into the hangar with the Los Angeles, and the two navy blimps J-3 and J-4. If the wind is unfavorable, she will be moored to the mast at the far side of the field.

One hundred and eighty additional men from the Brooklyn navy yard have been ordered here to assist the 270 men of the regular landing crew. The extra men are needed because of the size of the Zeppelin.

The detail of 55 Marines stationed here has been augmented by 12 state troopers to handle the crowds which are expected.

Rear Admiral Moffett, head of the naval air forces, and Rear Admiral J. I. Latimer are to be on hand to welcome the visitors.

The blimps J-3 and J-4, if the weather is favorable, will go to meet the Zeppelin somewhere along the coast and escort her over New York city and then to the naval field here. The tentative arrival has been set at noon Sunday. The Los Angeles will not be taken out.

ST. MARY'S HOLY NAME TO ATTEND COMMUNION

St. Mary's Holy Name Society will receive the regular monthly Holy Communion Sunday at the 8 o'clock Mass. Society members are requested to occupy the middle aisle of the church. The regular monthly meeting will be held Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in the school hall. Matters of importance will be taken up, one of which will be the planning of a Hallowe'en dance, so every member is asked to be present.

Why and Ayes Club.

The regular monthly meeting of the Why and Ayes Club will be held this evening at 7 o'clock promptly in the home of Miss Ethel Van Etten, 366 Broadway. New officers will be installed and members initiated. It is requested that all members attend.

"Arena Chapel"

The name of the famous chapel in Padua, Italy, is "Santa Maria dell' Arena." It was built by a rich Paduan in 1303, on the site of an old Roman amphitheater, hence its name.

How the Tariff Helps the Farmer

A most effective answer to the charge that adequate tariff protection has not aided American agriculture, is contained in the above chart, taken from the October issue of THE TARIFF REVIEW.

Under the Democratic Underwood Tariff Act, practically all agricultural products were either placed on the free list or given inadequate rates of duty. Under the existing Republican protective law, these items have been placed on the protected list with very substantial rates of duty.

Imports of agricultural products amounted to 51.6 per cent of all imports into the United States during the life of the Underwood Act but have dropped to 46.3 per cent of the total imports under the Fordney McCumber Act. Of more importance than this, even, is the fact that the agricultural products which compete directly with American grown produce have dropped from 35.7 per cent of the total under the Underwood Act to only 23.2 per cent under the present protective measure. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, a year when farm prices were at rock bottom, agricultural imports were valued at $1,942,000,000 and of this amount, products valued at $1,365,000,000 were in direct competition with American farm products. This meant that $1,365,000,000 worth of American farm products were displaced in the home market because of foreign competition.

In 1927, with much higher prices than in 1921, agricultural imports were valued at $1,875,000,000 and competitive agricultural imports totaled only $979,000,000. Hence, despite higher prices, protection has saved $486,000,000 in one year for the American farmers.

6,000 Teachers at Zone Conference

Over 6,000 teachers from Albany, Clinton, Columbia, Dutchess, Essex, Fulton, Greene, Montgomery, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady, Schoharie, Ulster, Warren and Washington counties will attend the annual convention of the teachers of the Eastern Zone to be held in Schenectady on October 25 and 26, announces Montgomery C. Smith, superintendent of schools at Hudson and president of the Eastern Zone.

The convention will open with a general session. There will be a special program on Thursday evening and another general session on Friday morning. Sectional meetings are scheduled for Thursday and Friday afternoon.

Removes His Own Appendix

Los Angeles, Oct. 12 (AP).—Dr. Robert Meals, young Hollywood surgeon, who three days ago removed his own appendix, today said he felt well enough to get up and walk, and "I would do so now instead of waiting the necessary ten days if I thought it would be safe."

Neither economy, necessity, nor desire for publicity prompted his self-operation, the doctor said. Rather the operation was an experiment to verify his previous conclusion that the "shock" which most patients suffer from operations was due largely to anesthesia rather than the operation itself.

This theory, he said, had been corroborated.

Such an operation has been performed only two or three times before in surgical history, doctors said.

Dr. Meals was assisted by a friend, Dr. J. Norton Nichols, who helped locate the appendix, which was in an unusual position, and to loosen it from adhesions to the back of the abdominal wall.

Dr. Meals took his place on the operating table with only nurses, interns and Dr. Nichols present. His back and head was propped up and a surgeon's gown was slipped over his shoulders. He wore the usual rubber gloves and with his own hands proceeded as though he were operating on a patient under anaesthesia. Throughout the operation the surgeons carried on a conversation, Meals said.

A local anaesthetic was applied but the surgeon-patient was subjected to considerable pain due to inability to anaesthetize the inner organs.

Cohen Gets Life Sentence

Los Angeles, Oct. 12 (AP).—Morris Cohen, a 22-year-old junk dealer, was under sentence of life imprisonment today for the murder of Hyman Friedman through the use of poisoned liquor.

Evidence brought out at the trial was to the effect that Cohen, to get rid of Friedman's son, who was his rival in love, poisoned a bottle of liquor and left it in his rival's automobile. The elder Friedman found the liquor, drank it and died.

Noted Christian Scientist Dies

Rochester, Oct. 12 (AP).—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, 87, at one time a leader in the Christian Science Church, died here today. She had been ill for 10 weeks.

Mrs. Stetson had been staying with her nephew, Major Harold W. Stimpson, at the Hotel Sagamore here since her return from his cottage in Canada in August.

Major Stimpson and his mother, Mrs. W. E. Stimpson, a sister of Mrs. Stetson, survive.

Reports several weeks ago that Mrs. Stetson was seriously ill at her hotel suite brought denials from her relatives.

Private funeral services will be held here and in New York.

The late Mary Baker Eddy, founder of Christian Science, conferred upon her the degree of Christian Science Doctor.

Mrs. Stetson's husband, who died several years ago, was Captain Frederick J. Stetson.

Beginning the practice of Christian Science healing in 1884, Mrs. Stetson the next year preached on alternate Sundays in the Mother Church in Boston. She was sent to New York city in 1886 by Mrs. Eddy and became one of the organizers and charter members of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, New York.

After her years of labor in behalf of Christian Science, friction arose between Mrs. Stetson and the mother church. She resigned her membership in the First Church, New York, in 1909.

Some years later Mrs. Stetson and the trustees of the First Church in New York became involved in litigation which occupied the attention of the courts for a long time and which became known as "the spite wall" suit. Mrs. Stetson brought the action to restrain the trustees of the church from building a stone wall 17 feet high between the church edifice on West 96th street and Mrs. Stetson's home, which adjoined the church.

Electric Wire Injured Myers

Paul Myers, 44, of Eddyville, was admitted to the City of Kingston Hospital late Thursday afternoon for treatment for injuries received that afternoon when he came in contact with a live wire. He sustained a broken rib and a burn on the hand and a burn on the foot.

Myers is employed by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company and was at work erecting a sign at Eddyville when he came in contact with the live wire, which hurled him to the ground.

This morning it was stated that Myer's condition was good.

Lax Justice

The way rich transgressors manage to keep out of jail led Governor Martineau of Arkansas to say in Little Rock:

"It reminds me of a story. A man was traveling in New Mexico, and in a little town embowered in palms and flowers the mayor seemed to be quite a character. He held all the offices—judge, coroner, police captain and so forth—and whatever turned up to be done, he was there to do it.

"After lunch, as he and his guest sat smoking in the garden, he turned to his clerk and said:

"'Higginson, by the way, sneak over to the roulette parlor and tell Don Juan Sereda I want to try him for that murder case.'"

Dine Baboon

A grotesque but humane method of repulsing wild animals is being practiced in Kenya colony, Africa. Elephants, hippopotami, bushpigs and baboons were surprised recently when they found among their number a queer animal resembling a baboon, except that it had all its hair shaved off and wore a coat of bright blue.

They were so startled that they no longer return to raid the colonists, and the idea is recommended by the official who captured the baboon and released it after transforming its appearance with a razor and paint brush.

Mimics

A Londoner was hurrying along the embankment to keep an appointment for which he was already late. He was stopped by a party of Americans, one of whom asked courteously if he would point out Cleopatra's Needle.

"Why, certainly," responded the Londoner; "it's just here."

He indicated the famous obelisk, and at the same time removed his hat to wipe his brow. Whereupon the Americans also uncovered and gazed at the needle with reverence.

Biology Omits This

A Chicago boy was visiting on a farm in Indiana for the first time. He was particularly interested in the animals and fowls of the barnyard, although his knowledge of them was scant.

Seeing some ducks and geese in a mixed flock, he inquired:

"How long does it take ducks to become geese?"

One Way

Mrs. G. was busy making jelly. In between the ringings of the phone and the doorbell.

With her patience worn just a little thin, she opened the door to the fifth salesman.

"Are you the lady of the house?" she was asked.

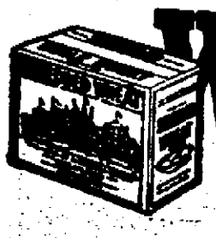

"No. I just work here," she answered, closing the door on the hurriedly retreating figure.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE

The right to vote is an inalienable right and a distinct privilege of the American citizen. To exercise this privilege intelligently, however, a thorough understanding of party fundamentals and principles, particularly in their relation to our present national problems, is required.

Fortunately there is no excuse today for ignorance concerning party platforms, as they relate to national issues. The result of the coming Presidential Election should reflect a representative and intelligent vote. This wealth of information has been due almost entirely to the radio.

NOW Have That Late Lunch in the Kitchen!

Time was when the kitchen and bathroom were chambers of horrors, to be carefully guarded against the inquisitive glances of "company." Today, they have become show-places. They are as open to "company" as the living room and the guests are shown through them with pride. And these delightful, informal, intimate luncheons of card-parties or friendly groups are staged in the kitchen with a "hominess" never before equalled.

The plumbing industry has made this possible. Advanced, sanitary, beautifully designed and colored fixtures have made bathrooms and kitchens beauty spots.

If your home is "getting along" without these new ideas in plumbing equipment, you are suffering inconvenience, humiliation and lower value on your property. Let us make "a health examination" of your home and show what can be done. No obligation.

Heat Wave Visits Chicago

Chicago, Oct. 12 (AP).—The good old summer time, a calendar truant dallying over into mid-October, perked an appreciative ear today to cold whispers from the Alaskan wastes.

After treating Chicago to the hottest October 11 in 56 years—the mercury reached 87.2 during the day—summer temperatures today were confronted with warnings of fall and tepeist weather by nightfall. A cold wave is moving down upon the midwest from Alaska, the government weather office said, threatening to drive temperatures as low as the freezing point by tomorrow.

The Chicago beaches bloomed with bathers under yesterday's summer sun, even as the October hot spell was being broken in Nebraska and parts of the northwest by rain storms and precipitous drops in temperatures.

Railway Express Strike Called Off

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—Striking employes of the American Railway Express Company were back at their jobs today and the embargo which the company had placed on all incoming and outgoing express has been lifted. The company estimated service would be back to normal in 24 hours.

Decision to end the strike was taken by the workers at a mass meeting addressed by George M. Harrison, grand president of the International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, who had hurried here from Cincinnati when the unanounced strike was called Sunday night.

Arrest Follows Auto Collision

A Pontiac sedan driven by Xander Steinberg of Brooklyn and bearing license 3X7566 and a Chevrolet sedan owned and driven by Robert E. Thompson were in collision at the corner of Fair and Pearl street Thursday afternoon shortly before 4 o'clock. Thompson had Steinberg arrested on a charge of reckless driving. This morning the hearing was adjourned for one week. Steinberg was proceeding over Pearl street toward Wall street and Thompson was traveling up Fair street toward Main street when the cars came together. The Chevrolet car was struck near the rear and tossed over against the northwest curb and turned over on its side. The Pontiac car ran head-on in a trolley pole with sufficient force to break off the insulator at the top which carries a heavily charged feed wire for the trolley cars.

The windshield and front end of the Pontiac car sustained severe damages but the two occupants escaped injury. The Chevrolet car was damaged about the fenders and body when it turned over and one window was broken. Thompson escaped injury.

Following the crash which was heard for a considerable distance a large crowd gathered and the police had a job on their hands to keep traffic moving while photographs were taken of the wrecks.

The Pontiac car was owned by Mr. Katinsky of Esopus.

Racing Stars At Driving Park

IRA VAIL.

Two of the greatest auto racing stars of the country, Ira Vail of Little Neck and Ralph De Palma of Los Angeles, will be seen at Kingston on Saturday, October 20, over the Kingston Driving Park's half mile track.

Incidentally they will ship cars here to wage a battle on the tracks for the speed crown of the east. Everywhere these two veterans are hailed with glory and that is what they do not like. One wants to stand out alone for fame, hence their meeting in a match race at Kingston on October 20.

Vail and De Palma are rivals on the track. They would "shoot" their car into a bend or turn "wide" open on their gas to beat the other regardless of the outcome.

When auto racing drivers battle for supremacy it's a great scene. And when these two stars, Vail and De Palma, meet, spectators will see some action, plus.

Vail is sore at heart over the fact that at Middletown this year De Palma lowered his track record. And at Kingston, Saturday, October 20, Vail seeks revenge. Will he beat De Palma?

It's going to be a great match race. Something is going to happen and perhaps it will be in the nature of a big thrill. Who knows?

Kingston in Finals But Not Winner

While no official word has been received by Kingston Post of the American Legion from the drum corps at San Antonio, Texas, it is unofficially stated that Kingston was among the fifteen drum corps that survived the finals although they did not win a prize. When the drawing was made for the competition Kingston drew "52" and was the last drum corps to compete for the prizes.

Of the fifty-two competing drum corps but fifteen reached the finals. It is unofficially reported that Wichita, Kansas, won first place; Monohan Post of Sioux City, second place; Greenville, Ohio, third place, and Rochester, N. Y., fourth place.

The prize for first place was $1,000, second place $750, third place $500 and fourth place $250.

COAST GUARD CUTTER REPORTED IN DISTRESS

San Francisco, Oct. 12 (AP).—Coast guard officers announced here today that their vessels in northern California waters had been asked to go to the aid of the Coast Guard Cutter Smith, which was reported in distress 30 miles off point Arena, Cal., about 300 miles north of here.

The Smith, which had been used for harbor detail here but which had been assigned to patrol duty, was said to have encountered high seas off the northern California coast. Whether she was in great danger was not known here. The Smith, a wooden vessel, carried a crew of 13 men, and was commanded by boatswain Nielsen.

The Coast Guard Cutter Cahokia attempted to put out from Eureka to go to the Smith's aid but was prevented from doing so by heavy seas.

The distress calls from the boat were received here at 9:40 o'clock last night and had ceased well before midnight.

Cuts Line, Is Electrocuted.

Tonawanda, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP).—A man identified as Andreas Gundosten of Buffalo was electrocuted last night when he cut a transmission line in the town of Tonawanda, apparently for the purpose of stealing the wire.

FACTORY DESTROYED BY INCENDIARY FIRE

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP).—Fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, destroyed a four-story brick factory building formerly occupied by the Achilles Rubber and Tire Corporation today with a loss of $30,000. This is the third disastrous fire occurring in Binghamton during fire prevention week with a total loss of $400,000. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Yellow Jackets Will Face Heavy Eleven Sunday

West Point Cavalry Gridders Said to Weigh a Ton—Locals Go To Pittsfield Saturday and Return for Game at Fair Grounds Sunday.

The Yellow Jackets will do some signal practicing tonight at the Athletic Field as the last order of preparation for two stiff games over the week end. Saturday the Jackets will take their fling at an aggregation of former high school and collegiate gridders, namely the Springfield Silvertowns at Pittsfield, Mass., and Sunday at the Kingston Fair Grounds the local representatives will strongly endeavor to overcome the West Point Cavalry.

It is expected that all the Yellow Jacket players will make the Pittsfield trip. Coach Preston is sure that his team will have a hard struggle against the heavy eastern eleven, which has mastered the gridiron sport from every angle, it is said. Just what lineup will be used in the Saturday game has not been given out, but it is thought that the same collection of Yellow Jacket players will be at odds with the soldiers here Sunday.

The Cavalry is one of the heaviest teams at West Point. The total weight of the eleven is 2,000 pounds or one ton. The Yellow Jacket line will have a hard task preventing the military men from making big gains by plunges, while the soldiers are said to have mastered the art of forward passing to near perfection. Kingston's representatives have been practicing to especially handle these factors of the sport and Coach Preston giving the Jackets plays that prove efficient against heavy opponents.

Probable lineups for Sunday's game are as follows:

Kingston		Cavalry
L.E.—Scheffel		Bledsoe
L.T.—Schultz		White
L.G.—Howard		Fisher
C.—Cassidy		Ellis
R.G.—Rose		E. White
R.T.—Winkky		L. Johnson
R.E.—Rice		Bohefield
Q.B.—Winter		Pryer
L.H.B.—Colvin	—	J. L. Jackson
R.H.B.—Hoffman		L. Smith
F.B.—Cirone		Brown

Seats for West Point Games.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 12.—The temporary steel stands erected in Michie Stadium here for last Saturday's S. M. U. football game will remain in place, thereby doubling the number of seats in the field. This will enable all spectators to obtain excellent seats where every move of the players can be plainly seen.

Eastern Grid Games Saturday

Georgia's Veteran Eleven Will Battle Crippled Yale Team—Other Contests For Eastern Teams.

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—Remembering the sad fate of the St. Louis Cardinals, a very recent baseball incident, Georgia's football warriors well may be permitted a snicker or two over reports of the crippled condition of Mal Stevens's Yale eleven.

Baseball fans will recall that before the late world's series the New York Yankees were supposed to be almost incapacitated. The Cardinals will tell you they were rather lively invalids on the ball field.

And so with Yale, perhaps. It may be suspected that Harry Mehre, Georgia coach, is laying his plans for the Yale battle at New Haven tomorrow on the assumption that his eleven good men and true are going to play a similar number of able-bodied Elis. Yale's great reserve strength is too well known to permit Mehre to believe his team is in for anything but a tough afternoon.

Although Nash and Shriver, Georgia's great ends of last year will be missing, Mehre is sending a veteran aggregation against the Bulldogs of the north. Nash and Shriver played a big part in Georgia's 14-10 victory over the Elis last season but Mehre believes he has found the men to fill their places.

Mal Stevens has been unable to send his first-string team through a single scrimmage this week. All but three of his first choices have been either on the sick or the injured list. There is gloom enough at New Haven but Yale teams have overcome handicaps before.

Although they battle no foe as rugged as Georgia, Princeton and Harvard may be put to considerable difficulty to beat respectively, Virginia and North Carolina. Bill Roper certainly is not entertaining any illusions of an easy battle. He has made four changes in the Tiger varsity that downed Vermont in such overwhelming fashion last week. Virginia bowed to a strong South Carolina eleven last Saturday, but has had a week to correct the mistakes of that encounter. North Carolina turned back Maryland, 26-19.

Beaten last year, 6-0, Colgate is anxious to turn the table on Virginia Poly but the outlook is none too bright. The Maroon bowed to Vanderbilt at Nashville last week while V. P. I. was crushing Hampden-Sidney. The latter team meets Cornell tomorrow in the only intersectional game Gil Doble's team will play this year.

Duke gets the jump on its southern companions in the present invasion of the north, meeting Boston College today. The Durham, N. C., college turned loose a bewildering flood of forward passes to bury Boston College under a 25-3 count last year, and showed another impressive aerial offensive in trouncing South Dakota last week.

Brown tackles Dayton at Providence Saturday and Navy meets Notre Dame at Chicago in the only other intersectional games in which the east can claim an interest.

Although these games will hold a major share of football interest, there are others of equal or greater importance. Pittsburgh, with another fine team, meets West Virginia with hopes of repeating its victory of last year, although there appears to be small chance that the Panthers can turn in a 40-0 score again.

Bucknell, which beat Penn State, 13-7, in 1927, hopes to turn the trick again. After revenge for a 32-0 beating last year, Fordham takes on New York University.

Pennsylvania, Columbia, Syracuse, Dartmouth, Carnegie Tech, Washington and Jefferson, Army, Georgetown and LaFayette meet opposition now rated as minor. Saturday's returns, however, may prove the minor opposition was major.

Big Ten Teams in Opening Battles

Chicago, Oct. 12 (AP).—Inaugural invasions of the big ten's 1928 gridiron campaign were on today as eight teams prepared for tomorrow's opening struggles in the race for conference honors.

For the first time in 31 years, Purdue invaded Minnesota with high hopes of providing another upset by stopping the charges of the powerful Gophers; Indiana was at Michigan, Ohio State invaded Northwestern and Iowa's heavy squad was at Chicago.

Northwestern depended on its fleet backs to repulse Ohio State's invasion.

Mayes McLain, Iowa's husky fullback, was causing some consternation for Chicago. The maroon line has been weak and McLain, who led the nation's stars in individual scoring in 1926, when he played with Haskell, is expected to flatten it. Coach Stagg indicated his team would flash a passing attack by drilling his men in that department thoroughly again last night.

Buoyed by the prospect of defeating Michigan for the first time, Indiana's rugged team was confident. Coach Tad Wieman of the Wolverines promised a different line-up than the one that bowed to Ohio Wesleyan Saturday.

Announcement that Ed. Westphal, sophomore fullback candidate, was scholastically eligible, comforted Minnesota although he may not get into the Purdue game. Several Minnesota players are on the crippled list, including Bob Turner, regular end, who was severely bumped and had to be helped off the field yesterday.

K. H. S. Ready for Game Saturday

The Kingston High School varsity football squad was put through their final work-out at the Athletic Field, Friday morning before their first home game which will be played with Raymond Riordon at the Kingston Fair Grounds, Saturday afternoon. The game will be called at 2:30.

Coach Kias took advantage of the holiday and made his men report for practice at 9 o'clock and worked them hard until 12. The boy's stiff training for the past two weeks certainly has done the trick for in the scrimmage Thursday night the second team couldn't hold the varsity and the result was that the first team scored three touchdowns against the seconds.

The coach has made a few changes on the squad. Captain Jones, who was taking Wilbur's place at left end, was again sent in the backfield as right halfback and Gaddis, who was formerly playing right end on the second team, is now being used as left end on the varsity. Jones shifted with "Al" Lynch at quarterback before he was changed first to left and then to right half and this left Lynch the only quarterback, but the coach then took Meagher, who was quarterback of the second team and is giving him a chance to pilot the varsity shifting off with Lynch.

The probable line-up for Saturday's game will be: L. E., Gaddis; L. T., Roosa; L. G., Clarke; center, Mohr; R. G., Fisher; R. T., Thompson; R. E., Shields; Q. B. Lynch; L. H. B., Minasian, F. B. Watts or Brigham; R. H. B. Jones or Merrill.

MATCH GAME TONIGHT AT LUTHERAN CHURCH ALLEYS

Northwestern Visits Illini

NORTHWESTERN'S football team will appear for the first time in the University of Illinois stadium on October 27, the occasion being the annual homecoming. The Wildcats have not played here since 1927. That game was played on old Illinois field, a year before the stadium was opened, and Northwestern lost 6 to 3. George was with the Illini when they defeated the Wildcats 29 to 6 at Chicago the following year, and that 7 to 6 defeat the Illini handed Northwestern in Evanston last season is recent history.

Coach Bob Zuppke.

Coach Dick Hanley will bring his fighting charges to Illinois with the determination to change the order of things. For since Zuppke came to Illinois in 1913, Northwestern has never defeated the Illini. Zup's teams won all six games.

Illinois and Northwestern met on the gridiron for the first time in 1907 with a 16 to 16 tie. Twenty games have been played since that time. Illinois has won 13, Northwestern 3, and two ended as ties.

But football has been looking up at Evanston for the past three years and the Wildcats have been establishing a reputation which makes their appearance on anybody's schedule the signal for a big game. Northwestern might have claimed a tie for the title in 1925 because of their 3 to 2 defeat at Michigan, but voted to give Michigan the title undisputed.

This act of sportsmanship was rewarded the following year when Northwestern and Michigan each won five conference games without a defeat, sharing the title. Last year, Hanley's first at Northwestern, the Wildcats had a team of imposing talent which was handicapped by injuries after getting away to an auspicious start.

Word from Evanston indicates that Hanley will have a team liberally sprinkled with veterans, but with some of his most reliable backfield men missing. However, the crop from last year's freshman teams is said to be large and talented.

Bases Were Loaded, but Jakey Atz Didn't Worry

Jakey Atz, whose Fort Worth club won several pennants in a row in the Texas league, is one of the best story tellers in baseball.

And his favorite story is about a game in which the opposition, only one run behind, had the bases loaded and one of the most dangerous hitters in the league up, but Jakey wasn't worried, because he knew no matter what that dangerous batter did, even if he cracked out a homer, Atz's club would win.

The batter was at the plate out of turn, and that is Jake's story.

"It was a perfect spot," he says. "The Beaumont club had three on and Jim Galloway was up, and that baby could hit. They were one run behind and two were out. Well, it didn't make any difference what Jim did. He was batting out of turn and the rules say that a batter who bats out of turn is automatically out. Luckily, he popped up, but imagine what an argument might have come up?

"That's the kind of a spot that makes you feel good—all to gain and nothing to lose."

Yale's Kicking Star

Football Enthusiasm Is Growing Fast in Turkey

Spain's new-found enthusiasm for football, which, we are told, is endangering the popularity of the bull fight, is equaled in Turkey, where the game has so caught the fancy of the public that it is played all through the summer. It is not, however, without its detractors. These complain that the teams seem to be two groups of implacable enemies vowing death to each other and each determined to give his adversary a knockout blow.

Macks Buy Wingard

Ernie Wingard, southpaw ace of the Milwaukee American Association Baseball club, has been sold to the Philadelphia Athletics. The price was not announced but it was learned the deal involved approximately $25,000. The Athletics will send one or two players to the Brewers. Wingard, once a pitcher at the University of Alabama, was obtained by Milwaukee last spring from the St. Louis Browns. He had been a big factor in the Brewer attack, his batting average being around .350.

Quick Sale for Fight Tickets

Tickets for Monday night's boxing program at the local armory are going fast, according to the men in charge of financial affairs in the First Battalion of the 156th Field Artillery, under whose auspices the bouts are held. Workers have erected the ring in the big drill shed and placed seats, which were removed for the big radio and electrical show recently held in the armory.

News from the boxing camps promises that plenty of healthy socking will characterize the fistic entertainment. Boys to participate in the show are heavy hitters, who generally take their matches by knockouts. The affairs will be nip and tuck contests, as Jimmy Ambrose puts it. He is the army matchmaker and has taken especial pains to get keen rivals for the Kingston bouts.

The main attraction between Mickey McVeigh, Newburgh pugilist, and that hard punching Eddie Mayo of the 369th Infantry, New York city, promises to hold plenty of thrills for boxing fans. The colored boy can hit hard, but McVeigh also has a dynamite wallop. The Newburgher proved this by knocking out Eddie Gillis of the 369th Infantry in 54 seconds of the first round in a bout held at the local armory recently. Gillis is known as one of the top notchers of the regiment.

All-Stars to Play At Poughkeepsie

Manager John McCardle of the Kingston All-Stars will take his nine to Poughkeepsie on Sunday to engage in the first of a three-game series with Freddie Dahn's club, outstanding baseball aggregation of the Bridge City. Bud Culleton will do the pitching for McCardle's team, while Clint Elsbree will toss them over for the Poughkeepsie club. Jack Robbins will receive Elsbree's shoots.

The All-Stars plan on retaining the good record they made this year by winning 17 games and dropping but seven. Most of the games were played on the road, which adds to the honor of the Kingston club's accomplishment. The same lineup that did so well on the diamond during the season will go to Poughkeepsie. McCardle will send the following men to the field against Dahn's team: Cragan, 1b; Davitt, 2b; Hornbeck, ss; Glaser, 3b; Smedes, c; Schwab, Moore, Knight, Quinn and Lynch, outer garden performers.

It is expected that a number of Kingston baseball fans will make the trip to Poughkeepsie to see the tilt.

Heat Wave in New York State

Kingston enjoyed real summer weather today. Thermometers at [illegible] registered 80 degrees and later in the afternoon 83 degrees were recorded. Today was the hottest day [illegible] experienced this month, and one of the warmest October days in several years.

Householders who had started winter fires during the cold weather recently experienced found the houses uncomfortably warm Thursday and today, and the fires were drafted down to the lowest point possible and windows thrown wide open.

Heat in Central New York.

Syracuse, Oct. 12 (AP).—Central New York sweltered under the second day of summer heat today when the thermometer reached 84 degrees at noon. This was the hottest October 12 in 27 years, according to the weather bureau. Nearly the same conditions prevailed yesterday.

A further rise in temperature was predicted for today with relief promised tomorrow in the form of showers and cooler weather.

Curtis Confident Of Western States

Never Saw Republicans More Active, He Says, and Feels Central West and West Will Go Republican Overwhelmingly.

Enroute with Senator Curtis to Washington, Oct. 12 (AP).—Senator Charles Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, left the west today, beaming confidence over the outlook for the Republican party there and girding himself for a drive in the east.

"I feel confident the central west and west will go Republican overwhelmingly," was the report given today by the senator to party leaders he met along his route to Washington. He will stop at the capital over Sunday before resuming the campaign.

"I never saw Republicans more active in my life than this year," he declared. "I am more than pleased with the wonderful meetings I had in the west. The attendance at all meetings and the enthusiasm of the workers was greater than I expected."

In his month in the west the veteran campaigner visited 16 states, including all in the great Mississippi valley agricultural region. Farm relief and the tariff have been the subjects of almost every talk, although he has taken in the full range of Republican arguments, including the plea for continuation of "Coolidge prosperity." On the swing into the northwest this week he confined himself to one or two speeches a day and excluded back platform talks.

His voice, which was almost gone at the end of the first western jaunt, was holding its own today. The senator goes eastward, however, with the right hand still in a sling.

The nominee spoke last night in the Janesville, Wis., High School auditorium. He levelled his attack on Governor Smith for his position on farm relief, the tariff and prohibition.

Senator Curtis will start next week on a campaign in the east, moving northward along the Atlantic coast from Raleigh, North Carolina, where he will appear Monday night.

Houghton Returns Silent on Politics

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—Alanson B. Houghton, ambassador to Great Britain and Republican nominee for United States Senate, returned to his home state today declining to comment on politics until he had conferred with Charles D. Hilles, national committeeman, and H. Edmund Machold, Republican state chairman.

Houghton planned to have lunch with these two leaders. He was met at the Mauretania's pier by Richard W. Lawrence, president of the National Republican Club.

Asked whether he planned to resign his diplomatic post at the Court of St. James, the ambassador said he would first have to confer with Secretary Kellogg.

"I don't know a thing about politics," Mr. Houghton told reporters who found him in his stateroom. "Not a thing, and I won't know until I have landed and had some conference. I expect to go to Washington within the next day or two, but just when I cannot now state."

The nomination, he said, had come "on the whole" as a surprise, adding that it was "a most gratifying kind of a surprise."

He indicated that he would not discuss politics until after he had been officially notified.

TEMPLE EMANUEL SCHOOL OPENS SUNDAY

Sunday morning at ten the Sunday school of Temple Emanuel will have its first session under the auspices of Rabbi Rose and a staff of especially qualified teachers. Courses will be given in Bible, Hebrew reading and translation. The last hour will be devoted to a children's service during which Dr. Rose will deliver a sermonette. The Ladies' Aid Society is taking particular pains in making this undertaking a success. Mrs. Sam Bernstein and Harry Lazarus are making every effort to obtain the proper cooperation between the parents and the school. The school is open to all children of the Jewish faith regardless of congregational affiliations. Parents and children who want to enjoy these privileges are requested to come this Sunday and register. No fee is charged.

Hoover Auto Wrecked.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—David Peebles and Harry Seawell attempted to drive a car decorated with their Hoover banners in the Smith parade here yesterday. A mob of spectators broke ranks at the curb, halted the car, smashed its headlights, wrenched off a door, ripped up the upholstery, slashed a tire and plastered the body with Smith stickers. Seawell and Peebles fled.

Ortlieb's Condition Unchanged.

Breakfasting in the Air.

Passengers today had their first experience at breakfasting in the air, unless they were too airsick to eat. The menu was coffee, tea, bread, butter and eggs or sausage.

The twenty persons lucky enough to obtain passage on the air liner, some of them at a fare of $3,000, viewed from the air the lights of cities on the Spanish Mediterranean course as the airship passed over them during the early hours of the night at a speed of about 80 miles an hour. They slept in the ten cabins which line the gangway of the ship, five on each side. Each cabin was equipped with two berths, the upper one being a hammock.

Aboard the largest dirigible are 60 persons in all, the greatest number ever to cross the Atlantic by air. When the R-34 flew east from East Fortune, Scotland, to Mineola, N. Y., in 1919, she carried a crew of 29, and the Los Angeles, then the ZR-3, brought 32 men over four years ago.

Among the passengers is Lady Grace Drummond Hay, English writer, who hopes to be the first woman to make the east to west crossing of the Atlantic by air. There are also three Americans aboard—Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, U. S. N., Arthur Robert Reiner of Weehawken, N. Y., and Frederick Gilfillan, who lives in Switzerland.

Besides the 60 passengers there is one other living being aboard the airship—a canary. The bird was was one of five presented by well wishers and was chosen as mascot for the voyage. From the ship's home port to the Atlantic was a journey of 1,200 miles.

Ship Forced to Make Detour.

Starting from Friedrichhafen at 2 a. m. Eastern Standard Time yesterday, Dr. Hugo Eckener, the commander, found unfavorable weather to the north and west. This forced him to take a long detour and at a speed of around 60 miles an hour he swung south across France. Adverse winds cut down the mileage and when passing over the Mediterranean shore of Spain the speed was estimated to be around 50 miles an hour.

The dirigible nosed her way through clouds blanketing the Rhone Valley. On leaving the French coast behind her she headed into more favorable weather. Reports to the Paris weather bureau showed good weather over the Atlantic south of the 40th parallel.

The dirigible came in sight of the Spanish Mediteranean coast at twilight and passed over Barcelona at 6:50 p. m. (1:50 p. m. Eastern Standard Time). As it flew in a large circle over the city the roar of the motors could be heard. Crowds turned out to cheer the air giant. The dirigible continued down the Mediterranean coast in a southwest direction.

In the meantime Spanish wireless stations made futile efforts to get in contact with Graf Zeppelin. They were hampered by not knowing the airship's wave length.

Zeppelin Heads For Azores

Berlin, Oct. 12.— 6:30 p. m.—(AP).—Latest news from Horta indicates that Dr. Hugo Eckener, instead of going directly to Bermuda, is heading sharply for the Azores which he expects to reach early this evening.

King, of Kingston, Leads Them All

Willard & Co., Vice-President, Manager of Kingston Branch, Reaches Vastly Increased Quota Months Ahead of Time in Selling Hudson Securities in His District.

Harold E. King, with offices in the Governor Clinton Hotel building and residence at 79 Maiden Lane, once more leads them all in the competition between the six branches of W. E. Willard & Co., Inc., by being the first to attain the quota of sales assigned for the year. In achieving this, Mr. King, now a vice-president of the company and president of the Quota Club, becomes automatically, chairman of the Quota Club for 1929. Willard & Company has also recently won for itself the cup offered for the largest sales of Hudson securities, in competition with five other concerns.

Mr. King is manager of the Kingston district of Willard & Company, distributors of Hudson securities, and has made a wonderful success here, having on his books nearly 300 satisfied clients, and no dissatisfied ones. Beginning in a modest way, he placed his branch at the top of the list last year in reaching his quota, sales for 1927 being increased to 235 per cent of 1926 sales. The amount of his sales last year was assigned as his quota this year, and with two and a half months still to go he has already reached his quota. It is not remarkable that Mr. King believes that he seized the opportunity of a lifetime when he selected Kingston as the place in which to sell conservative securities and that he is more firm than ever in his decision to spend his life here. It was the name of the city that first drew Mr. King here. He wanted to become "King, of Kingston,"—not King of Kingston—and he has. A comma makes a lot of difference sometimes. And Mr. King is the kind of a man who will resent having the comma omitted.

Vote to Revise Book of Prayer

Washington, Oct. 12 (AP).—The first joint session of the House of Bishops and the House of Delegates, the legislative bodies of the Episcopal Church, drew the center of attention today at the 49th general convention of the church organization, which in two days has received resolutions and committee reports looking to many reforms in doctrine and practice.

An overwhelming majority has already been recorded in the meeting of the deputies for a clause revising the Episcopal book of common prayer which would commit the church to a specific prayer for the dead. A proposal to allow the administration of both parts of the Eucharist at one time by dipping the bread in the wine, was lost despite opposition from some members on the ground that drinking wine from a common communion cup aided the spread of disease.

The final count of the offering of Episcopal women showed $1,110,405 to be used for missionary purposes. This is the largest ever made at a triennial meeting. Three years ago at New Orleans $913,000 was contributed.

French Submarine Ondine Sunk

Paris, Oct. 12 (AP).—The French submarine Ondine, overdue for the past three days, was sunk by a Greek ship off Oporto during the night of the third of October. She had aboard three officers and 49 men.

The Ondine, which was of 600 tons, left Cherbourg on an endurance trial run October 1. She was last heard from on October 3 by a Spanish wireless station. Her position was then given as off Cape Finisterre.

The Ondine was due at Bizerta, the seaport of Tunis, on October 9. When she did not arrive the French naval authorities began a search for her in the hope that she might have met with some accident which made it impossible for her to give her position.

The French ministry of marine informed the Associated Press that a Greek cargo boat which recently docked at Rotterdam reported having sunk the submarine.

Local Death Record

Rosina Christina, widow of the late Andrew Walker, died this morning at her home on the Plank Road in the town of Ulster. Notice of funeral hereafter.

Johannes Hansen, 50, died at his home in The Clove on Thursday. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, and a son of Brooklyn. The body will be taken to Brooklyn for funeral and interment.

John Kless, injured when he fell from a hay loft of a barn recently, died on Thursday, October 4, at his home in Ellenville. He was a native of the town of Wawarsing and a resident of Ellenville for the past 17 years. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Gus Kless of Ellenville and Fred Kless of Newark, N. J.

George H. Quick died Thursday at his home on Ulster avenue, Saugerties. He had been a lifelong resident of that village and at one time conducted a cigar store on Partition street. He was a member of the Men's Choral Club. Besides his wife he is survived by his stepmother, who lives in Hudson, and one brother, Charles, of Schenectady.

Emma, wife of the late William Leslie Neice, died at her residence, 159 Ten Broeck avenue, Thursday. Funeral from the late home Saturday at 2 p. m. Interment in Montrepose cemetery. Mrs. Neice is survived by one son, William S. Neice of Erie, Pa.; one daughter, Elsie M., wife of Walter M. Ennis of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Lake of Bridgeport, Conn.

Mrs. Amanda Felten died Wednesday evening at her home in High Woods, aged 85 years. She had been a lifelong resident of the town of Saugerties and was held in high esteem by all who knew her. She is survived by three sons, George Felten of Saugerties, Sauley Felten of High Woods, and Abram Felten of Connecticut, and five grandchildren, Mrs. Arthur Lamb and Frances Felten of Saugerties, Margaret Felten, Mrs. Samuel Kraar and Mrs. Donald Targett.

Sarah Bogart, wife of Charles Davis of Ashokan, died on Thursday at the City of Kingston Hospital. She is survived by her husband, a son, Clifford Davis, grocer, at 720 Broadway, this city; three daughters, Mrs. Chester A. Lyons, wife of the supervisor of the town of Olive, and Mrs. H. Christiana and Miss Margerie Davis of Ashokan, six grandchildren and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bogart of Ashokan; one brother, Clifford Bogart of Kingston; three sisters, Mrs. Newton Smith of Shokan, Mrs. George Weeks of Stone Ridge and Miss Mary Bogart of Ashokan. Funeral Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Shokan Reformed Church. Interment in Cold Brook cemetery.

The funeral of Miss Marie Uhl was held from her late home, 29 Ravine street, this morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 at St. Peter's Church where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Joseph Huband. The services were very largely attended by her many relatives and friends. Thursday evening scores of friends and members of the society of Children of Mary from St. Peter's Church came to the home to recite the Rosary and pay their last respects to her memory. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, testifying to the esteem in which she was held by all who knew her. The bearers were Abram, George and Henry Aiken, Clarence Uhl, William Guldy and Joseph Corkery. Interment was in the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery where the final absolution was given by the Rev. Father Huband.

The funeral of Frederick J. Hahn was held Thursday afternoon from his late home on Rock street at 2 o'clock and 2:30 at the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church. The church was filled with sorrowing relatives, friends and neighbors who came to pay their last respects to his memory. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, completely surrounding the silver metallic casket in which the remains reposed. Owing to the illness of the pastor of the church, the services were conducted by the Rev. G. Albert Schulze, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church at Albany, and who had faithfully administered to the deceased during his illness at the Albany City Hospital. The bearers were members of the family. Interment was in the family plot in Montrepose Cemetery, where the remains were laid to rest in a concrete vault.

Dr. Clarke Buys Winne Homestead.

Mrs. Carlie Ettell Markle of Accord and Mrs. Mildred Cochrane of Kingston have sold to Dr. Harold Clarke their property located at 107 Hurley avenue, which for many years was owned by the Winne estate and known as the Winne homestead. The doctor has also purchased the adjoining piece of land from Morris Kotler and wife, which gives him plenty of land to lay out his plans to accommodate his present business. He is also going to remodel the house, equipping it with every modern improvement, and has already taken possession of his new purchase. These sales were negotiated through the real estate brokerage agency of Frank S. Hyatt, 281 Fair street.

Ensign Vansyckle To Finish Drive

Ensign Verner M. Vansyckle, now in charge of Kingston Salvation Army headquarters, will start immediately to complete the drive recently started to raise $4,500 for winter relief work. The sum of $1,500 is needed to make the drive a success. A desirable plan will be formulated by the ensign after he has established himself in this city. His and Mrs. Vansyckle's official welcome will be held at the Salvation headquarters Sunday. A cordial invitation is extended to all Kingstonians to attend.

Ensign Vansyckle is known as an outstanding worker in Salvation Army circles. During his three years in Poughkeepsie he accomplished much. One of his achievements in that community was the erection of an $55,000 building, upon the completion of which he was sent to Yonkers. His record in that city is an enviable one.

POULTRY • FACTS •

POULTRY BREEDS AND HOW CLASSED

Chickens are divided into classes, breeds and varieties. Birds with the same general characteristics are placed in one class. Classes are then divided into breeds. Each breed of poultry is distinguished from other breeds by differences in type. Breeds are separated into varieties. The different varieties of the same breed are designated by differences in comb or color. All varieties of the same breed should have the same general type characteristics.

There are four general classes of chickens that are common and other classes less common.

The American class consists of birds that are of the general purpose type. They have yellow skin and legs, red ear lobes and legs free from feathers.

The breeds that make up this class are: Plymouth Rock, Wyandotte, Java, Dominique, Rhode Island Red, Rhode Island White, Buckeye, Jersey Black Giants and Chantleleer.

The Mediterranean class are smaller than the American class and are often known as the egg breeders. They are nervous in disposition, very active, compactly built, have white ear lobes and clean legs. The breeds that make up this class, are: Leghorn, Minorca, Spanish, Andalusian and Ancona.

Fowls that make up the Asiatic class are large and clumsy, have red ear lobes and feathers on their legs. They are often referred to as the meat breeds. Brahmas, Cochins and Langshans make up the breeds in this class.

The English class, while not as common as the other three already referred to, probably rank fourth in popularity. These birds are medium in size, have red ear lobes, clean legs that are pink in the buff and white varieties and black in the black varieties. The breeds making up this class are Orpingtons, Dorkings, Red Caps, Sussex and Cornish.

Selling Squab Broilers During Winter Months

Quite a number of the broiler plants make a specialty of squab broilers, which sell best during January and February. They are grown in about eight to ten weeks, the hatches coming out in November and December, and are successfully raised without any outdoor exercise.

The greatest demand for squab broilers is in spring, when game birds are scarce, and a small bird is in demand in restaurants. They should weigh from three-fourths to one pound, and must be plump. Many who ship squab broilers make a great mistake in sending bony, poor ones. Good returns cannot be expected from poor, scraggy birds, half dressed.

The broiler for the winter market must be attractive looking to command a ready sale at good prices. Plump chickens, neatly dressed, free from pin feathers, with unsoiled skin and with perfectly clean legs, will find a ready sale, while poor stuff goes begging. A fat broiler is quite a rarity. The best that can be done, generally, is to have them plump, for the natural tendency of the chick is to use all nutriment for growth and development. The main point is to grow them rapidly.

To grow good broilers there should be dry quarters provided, thoroughly cooked food, comfortable heat (not too high nor too low), regularity in feeding, cleanliness and good light. The chicks must be induced to take plenty of exercise.

Moving Pullet Flock

When there are many pullets to be moved it often pays to leave them in the crates over night and move the crates to the laying houses in the morning. Then the poultryman has a better light and can do a better job of culling and treating the birds for lice. As each pullet is taken from the crate, it can be inspected for weight, general health and vigor, and prospective laying ability. All birds that are poor prospects for winter profits can be isolated for future observation.

Improve Egg Quality

Much can be done to improve the quality of eggs produced by careful selection of eggs used for hatching purposes. All undersized, misshapen, off-color, and defective shelled eggs should be eliminated from the incubator. By following such a practice for a few years the quality of eggs laid by a flock should be materially improved. Egg dealers are willing now to pay a premium for high quality eggs. It is well to assort them according to size and color.

Feed to Help Pullets

If pullets must search for their feed on free range they will probably find sufficient food for body maintenance, but growth will be slow and egg production will be impossible until late winter or early spring. Liberal feeding of grain and mash containing 20 per cent of high-grade tankage, or in place of tankage all the milk the pullets can drink, will not only reduce the amount of exercise but will hasten growth and stimulate fall egg production.

Optimism

On the eve of his wedding a Vienna bridegroom challenged the best man to a duel. Jealous acquaintances of the bride declare that he subsequently remarked, "And may the best man win."

Wintry Weather In Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 12 (AP)—Wintry weather prevailed over the prairie provinces today. In most districts snow had fallen during the past 24 hours.

In Manitoba snow was general, and a cold northwest wind was sweeping the prairies.

KINGSTON INSTITUTE OF MUSIC RECITAL A SUCCESS.

The recital and dance given by the pupils of the Kingston Institute of Music at the Y. W. C. A. Hall Thursday evening was a success both for the audience and the Institute. With M. Joseph as director and Marion Crane Jones as accompanist the young students performed as well as professionals, although it was their first appearance before the public. The pupils in the recital have been students of the Institute from three months to one and one half years and their performance speaks well for their instructors. The program follows:

Says Criminals Run Night Clubs

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.)—District Attorney Joab H. Banton today warned prospective night club visitors that many of the clubs are run by persons with criminal records and that they are the rendezvous of criminals.

"Persons who patronize night clubs associate with criminals of the worst type," he said. "The night clubs are hangouts of criminals who watch for women with jewelry and money, follow them when they leave and rob them or else blackmail them."

The victims, he said, usually are people from out of town and the police hands are tied because of the victims' refusal to prosecute in fear of the resulting notoriety.

The district attorney's statement was made in connection with an investigation into the death of Bessie Poole, a former actress, after a visit to the Chez Florence, a midtown night club. Police are investigating a report that her death followed a fight at the club although the physician who attended her said death was due to natural causes.

One night club manager, Daniel Perrisi of the Don Royal, was held for the grand jury without bail yesterday charged with robbing a patron of his club.

Will-o'-the-Wisp

"Ignis fatuus," is simply a Latin name for what we commonly call will-o'-the-wisp or jack-o'-lantern, and means "deceptive fire." It is a phosphorescent light seen in and over marshy places, and supposedly caused by the evolution and spontaneous combustion of an inflammable gas.

Holy Name At St. Peter's

October 14, is Holy Name Sunday, therefore, the usual services will be held at St. Peter's Church in the evening at 7:30, consisting of devotion, conference by one of the Fathers from Mt. St. Alphonsus, renewal of the Holy Name pledge and solemn Benediction. All the men of the parish in particular are reminded that they should be present to crowd the middle aisles of the church and continue that admirable expression of their faith which was manifested at the closing of the Forty Hours, Devotion on Tuesday last, when over 250 men were in attendance to march in the procession of the Blessed Sacrament. This does not mean only the older men but the younger element as well, including the graduates of this year.

All the other members of the parish are also cordially invited to crowd the remainder of the church, so that everyone will be using this first opportunity to learn more about how to practice the good resolutions recently made.
